Dress-lifting banned

LARGO, Fla. (AP) — A law banning the lifting of girls' dresses has been enacted at Bouder Elementary School, where arrest warrants are handed out for hair-pulling, talking in class and throwing food.

Thirty-three such statutes are on the books in Tom Hackenberry's second-grade classroom, where the store detective turned teacher is bringing the long arm of the law into the study of social sciences.

A court system has been established with pupils, aged 6 to 8, acting as judges, prosecutors, defense counsels and police.

"This court study has been very effective in curbing school offenses, and students are learning respect for the law," Hackenberry said.

The worst punishment is to be sentenced to go to the principal's office

A note to the parents, being kept in from recess and missing art class are among other punishments doled out in the classroom court.

"We took a trip to the Largo Municipal Court last week," Hackenberry said. "The children ... were impressed by the fact that the court they were seeing in action was very similar to the one they run themselves."

Back from the city court, the pupils passed a law banning dress-lifting, following a complaint filed by a distraught second grader.

Vietnam peace talks delayed

PARIS (AP) — Henry A. Kissinger and North Vietnam's Le Duc Tho met today for the sixth day in succession, and decided to recess their talks until Dec. 4.

The two met for two hours despite an apparent Communist leak disclosing details of serious differences said to have arisen during the meetings.

The North Vietnamese delegation issued a communique after the meeting and said Tho and his fellow negotiator, Xuan Thuy "will meet Dr. Kissinger again on Dec. 4, 1972."

In New York, White House press secretary Ronald L. Ziegler also said the talks had been interrupted until Dec. 4. Ziegler said Kissinger is returning to the United States tonight to consult with President Nixon on the status of the negotiations. Nixon and his family are in New York for the weekend.

Ziegler said the President has agreed to meet early next week with South Vietnam President Nguyen Van Thieu's special assistant, Nguyen Phu Duc, who is coming to Washington to discuss the negotiations.

In Paris, U.S. delegation spokesman David Lambertson said he had no comment on the announcement, which came amid reports of a crisis in the negotiations.

Asked if some obstacles had been encountered in the efforts to reach a cease-fire agreement, Ziegler said, " I would caution you against any excessive speculation." He added that both sides "are negotiating seriously."

The presidential spokesman said it had been mutually agreed "not to discuss the substance of the talks or characterize them in any way whatsoever." It was the U.S. position, Ziegler said, not to sign a final agreement "until the agreement is right."

Kissinger met in the Paris suburb of Choisy-le-Roi for approximately two hours Saturday morning with North Vietnamese negotiators Tho and Xuan Thuy. Deputy U.S. National Security adviser Gen. Alexander M. Haig Jr. was in on the talks in what Ziegler said was a different format — "a smaller group."

At the end they agreed to resume meeting Dec. 4 in Paris.

Ziegler said Kissinger reported to the President by telephone to his hotel suite at the Waldorf-Astoria in New York, where Nixon is staying.

Kissinger was to arrive at New York's John F. Kennedy airport about 10 p.m. tonight. He was to report immediately afterwards to the President.

The talks continued for the sixth straight day despite an apparent Communist leak disclosing details of serious differences said to have arisen between the two sides.

Kissinger smiled and waved at photographers as he emerged from the building in suburban Choisy le Roi.

Tho, by contrast, departed with a grim expression and ignored the newsmen and photographers gathered in the street.

Kissinger was accompanied only by his top aide, Gen. Alexander M. Haig Jr. Tho was accompanied by the head of the regular North Vietnamese delegation, Xuan Thuy.

The two delegations met in the same house, four blocks from the headquarters of the North Vietnamese, where they were reported to have had a stormy one-hour session on Friday.

There was no official comment from either delegation on a detailed report in the Washington Post claiming that the United States had backed away from the draft agreement concluded last month between Kissinger and Tho.

U.S. delegation spokesman David Lambertson declined all comment on the report. Other American sources said the report obviously was leaked by the North Vietnamese delegation and was a "self-serving" version of the facts.

There were widespread reports Friday that Kissinger and Tho had run into serious difficulties after talking for a total of more than 20 hours in what Kissinger said would be the final secret session to clarify minor points in the agreement.

Kissinger conferred with French Foreign Minister Maurice Schumann for 45 minutes, apparently to assure him that the United States remains hopeful of an early settlement. Schumann later took the unusual step of issuing a Foreign Ministry statement asserting that "the pessimistic rumors on Vietnam were highly exaggerated."

The Washington Post story said Kissinger had informed Tho when they resumed their secret talks Monday that the United States, in deference to objections from South Vietnam's President Nguyen Van Thieu, no longer was willing to go along with some major concessions it made in the October draft.

These included the toleration of North Vietnamese troops in certain areas of South Vietnam and the creation of a Council of National Conciliation — composed of the Saigon government, the Viet Cong and neutralists — to organize elections under international control.

Thieu has described the agreement as a sellout and has warned the United States he will not accept any deal made against his will.

The Washington Post said that Tho, angered by the American reversal, promptly threatened to withdraw the concessions made by Hanoi in the October draft.

These included abandonment of the old Communist demand for a simultaneous political and military settlement and agreement to allow

Bombing raids heavy

SAIGON (AP) — U.S. B52 bombers have launched more than 200 strikes in the last five days against North Vietnam, dropping over 6,000 tons of bombs in the heaviest raids of the war, military sources reported.

At the same time, senior U.S. officials disclosed that a second B52 bomber was damaged when three surface-to-air missiles were fired at a flight of the Stratofortresses Wednesday night.

One of the B52s crashed in northeast Thailand after losing four of its eight engines, the officials said. All of the six crewmen were rescued, two injured, the U.S. Command reported.

The pilot of the second damaged B52 flew it back to its base in U Taphao, Thailand, 500 miles from the target near the North Vietnamese port of Vinh. None of the six crewmen was injured, and they did not know their plane had been damaged until they landed, officials said.

The U.S. officials said three B52s were in the flight attacking supply caches near Vinh.

Meanwhile, U.S. officials in Vientiane, Laos, disclosed that an Air America Caribou cargo plane flying in support of Laotian irregular forces was shot down Thursday by North Vietnamese antiaircraft fire in southern Laos near the provincial capital of Saravane.

The two American crewmen, John H. Bannerman of Fairfield, Calif., and Charles McCarthy of New Richmond, Wis., were killed.

Air America is backed by the U.S. Central Intelligence Agency.

The Air America plane was the 10th American aircraft lost in Indochina in the past five days, one of the heaviest tolls in several months. Total U.S. casualties in the losses are six killed and three missing. Eleven airmen were rescued.

Officials indicated the raids had a political objective as well as a military one: to signal Hanoi that the United States will not let up its bombardment below the 20th parallel until a Paris peace agreement is concluded.

Bomber pilot credited for protecting secret

SAIGON (AP) — A U.S. B52 commander was credited by the Air Force today with saving top-secret electronic equipment from falling into North Vietnamese hands by guiding his crippled bomber into friendly territory before it crashed.

"It was a masterful job," said one senior Air Force official, speaking about Capt. Norbert J. Ostrozny, 30, of Lackawana, N.Y., the aircraft commander. "He did it with sheer skill and bravery."

Earlier, Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird sent congratulations to Ostrozny.

"He went beyond and above the call of service in order to bring that aircraft into Thailand after it had been hit and damaged," Laird said in Washington.

It was the first B52 reported lost as the result of enemy fire in 7½ years of operations in Indochina.

Ostrozny was not injured. But his navigator, Capt. Robert L. Estes, 32, of Abilene, Tex., was wounded by shell fragments that pentrated the aircraft and the copilot, Capt. Philip Foley, 26, of Fair Haven, Vt., suffered a fracture of his right ankle when he landed in the dark.

The three other crewmen, all uninjured, were identified as Maj. Larry T. Stephens, 35, also of Abilene, the electronic-warfare officer; Maj. Adam Rech, 35, also of Abilene, the radar navigator, and S. Sgt. Ronald W. Sellers, 28, of Waco, Tex., the tail gunner.

Hijacker shot in Germany

FRANKFURT, Germany (AP) — Police sharpshooters, firing through a partly opened airplane door, shot and killed a gunman today and freed unharmed a stewardess hostage held nearly 24 hours aboard an Air Canada jetliner at Frankfurt airport, police reported.

Police Director Horst Vogel, who headed the 150 policemen at the airport, told newsmen that "colleagues with special training were under orders to shoot the hijacker in a crystal clear situation that would not endanger the hostage."

The hostage was Margit Sommer, 31, a German-born Canadian, who was rescued when police stormed aboard the DC8 after gunning down the middle-aged hijacker.

Miss Sommer had been seized by the revolver-carrying gunman Friday afternoon aboard the plane. He ordered the plane's other six crewmen off and then began issuing widely fluctuating demands to free various persons being held in West German jails.

He set a 3 p.m. — 9 a.m. EST — deadline today for his demands, which ranged from freeing a Czech hijacker awaiting trial for murder to the release of jailed members of the West German Baader-Meinhof anarchist gang.

Officials in Frankfurt, acting with the assistance of a psychologist, implemented a plan of psychological warfare. "We're trying to wear him out," said Frankfurt Police Chief Knut Mueller.

Bolivia's labor strife is easing

LA PAZ, Bolivia (AP) — Government officials and labor leaders late Friday night reached a compromise aimed at ending a crippling 2-day-old strike, but it remained unclear whether the regime would lift a nationwide state of siege or whether the striking workers would go back on the job.

The union chiefs agreed their men would resume work after the government said it would negotiate salary increases "in the near future" and released several labor leaders jailed when the strike began.

Textile workers began a 24-hour strike Thursday to protest recent government austerity measures, including a two-thirds devaluation of the peso, and government charges that unions were being infiltrated by leftist elements.

The right-wing regime of President Hugo Banzer Suarez reacted swiftly. It declared a state of siege to counter what it called an "overt plot" against the government, ordered tanks, troops and police to surround factories in northern La Paz, stationed army assault cars in working class neighborhoods and arrested about 15 labor leaders and workers

The textile workers then barricaded themselves inside their factories and vowed to remain until the "ultimate consequences."

Union leaders estimated more than 20,000 bank employes and 30,000 store workers joined the walkout in sympathy with the strikers; and, as a result, much of the industrial and commercial activity throughout Bolivia has ground to a halt

Man survives on faith

CHICAGO (AP) — Because of his anti-Communist sympathies Vasile Posteuca was forced to leave his native Romania, his young wife and two small children in 1941.

He spent a year in the infamous Nazi concentration camp at Buchenwald and did not see his wife, Zamfira, again until 1968. He never again will see the homeland about which he wrote widely published pastoral poetry.

This fall Posteuca, who had been teaching linguistics at Mankato State University in Minnesota, learned he was dying of stomach cancer.

Still, Friday night, the 60-year-old Posteuca praised God.

In his arms, he once again held his daughter, Doina Vircol, 34, who had waged a three week battle against red tape in Bucharest to obtain a passport allowing her to visit her father and family and fulfill one of his last wishes.

"My faith in God kept me from dying," Posteuca told the 30 reporters, photographers and television cameramen gathered around his bedside at Columbus Hospital to view the reunion. Also at his side was his wife, and his son, Doru, 33, of Kasota, Minn.

His doctors said Posteuca, 60, should have been dead two weeks ago; but, as he drew his gray, wasted body into a sitting position, he said, "I feel great, I never felt greater

Mrs. Vircol's efforts to obtain a passport twice were stymied when authorities refused her a visa Friends said this was because of her father's outspoken attitude against the Communist regime in Romania. Finally, after a wave of public opinion embarrassed Romanian officials into granting her request.

Mrs. Vircol's visa is renewable for up to six months. Dr Alexander Ronnett, Posteuca's physician and personal friend, indicated Mrs. Vircol would remain in the United States as long as possible

With the reunion Posteuca's two final wishes were fulfilled. He had expressed a desire to become an American citizen; and Tuesday, in a surprise bedside ceremony, he took the naturalization oath.

Ronnett, who was with Posteuca at Buchenwald, was asked how his friend had fought off death for so long.

"Medically, he should have been dead two weeks ago," Ronnett replied. "But he looks upon death not as other people. He has faced death before...

Task force backs service districts

BY CLIFF MILLER
Post Crescent Staff Writer

OSHKOSH — The state task force trying to draw a blueprint for restructuring local government wore out pencils and patience Friday but made little headway toward its goal of drafting its final report by Sunday

The major achievement was agreement on a scheme for creating urban services districts where a single county includes an urban area sprawling over several municipal boundaries But the task force quit just before midnight and left until this morning a discussion on how to finance services in the districts

The committee hopes before the end of the year to hand Gov Patrick Lucey a report proposing reforms under five main headings basic government structure at the local level, accountability of local officials, metropolitan finance, property tax administration and state regulation of local government, and nine "functional" areas, including economic development land use and development, environmental quality, transportation, housing, health, welfare, education and public safety

The committee ordered the section on state regulations redrafted to include strong advice to give the Department of Local Affairs and Development (DLAD) sufficient finances and support to do the job of assisting local governments which the legislature has assigned it

A subcommittee had declared the state lacks a uniform policy toward municipalities, but task force members found statutes spell out a policy which they said the DLAD has failed to carry out, largely for lack of funds

The law enforcement portion of the section on public safety is expected to generate protracted debate Among its provisions is a suggestion to give local elected officials more control over police departments

The only major section of the list given preliminary approval as presented by a subcommittee was the report on welfare It recommends abolishing the unit system of dispensing relief by single municipalities and turning the responsibility over to the state, with financing also shifted entirely to the state and federal level

But to preserve closeness of contact between administrators and communities, the report recommends decentralizing state welfare administration and creating neighborhood service centers

The section on environmental quality received approval in most parts but committee members had reservations about a few There was support for more state aid aimed at encouraging regional water pollution abatement facilities, pollution control on a watershed basis, and linking extensions of new sewer service with comprehensive development plans to shape orderly community growth patterns

There also was agreement on the need for metropolitan area health planning agencies, but members questioned whether a companion proposal to establish neighborhood health centers would conflict with the first recommendation

There also was agreement on significant individual recommendations contained inside larger subcommittee reports For example, the task force agreed that the legislature should make it mandatory for counties in the state's federally designated metropolitan areas, and all other counties with population of 50,000 or more, to have an elected county executive The office is now an optional

But there was disagreement whether a recommended 5 year deadline for compliance allows enough time

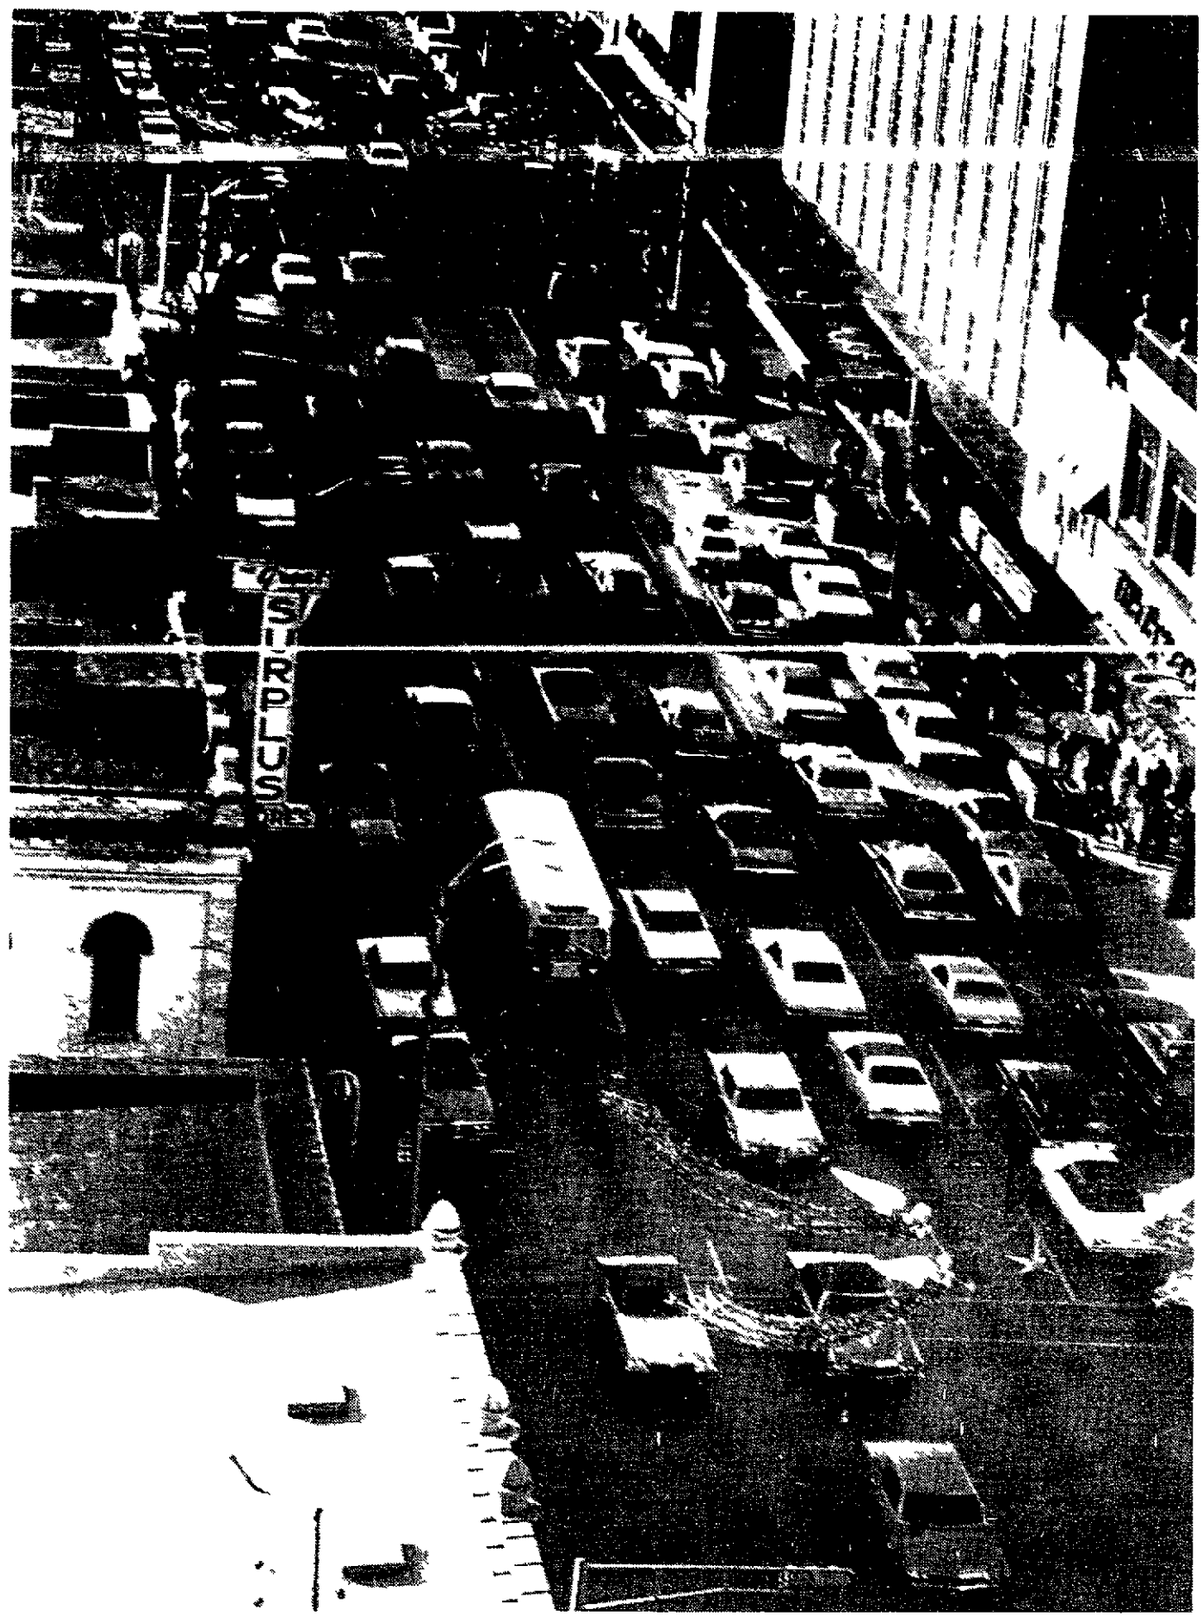

There also was widespread agreement that the state constitutional provision that prohibits the state from spending money on "internal improvements" at the municipal level should be either amended or repealed Subcommittees have recommended amendment, to permit state aid to local government for housing and mass transit systems

Otto Feste, former mayor of Madison, offered the formula that was approved to have counties form urban services districts to provide such services as police and fire protection and waste disposal on a metropolitan basis, rather than by adjoining units of government

His proposal's basic difference from the similar scheme offered by a subcommittee is that Festge eliminated a requirement for the urban portions of unincorporated towns either to incorporate or to merge with adjoining cities or villages

Festge submitted his proposal after the task force rejected the second alternative offered by the subcommittee, to allow single-purpose service districts The remaining alternative, and Festge's modification of it, provide for a variety of services dispensed by the same district, which would be governed only by those county board supervisors representing citizens within the urban part of the county

The committee haggled nearly three hours over the details before approving the Festge plan with some modifications, while rejecting others

Combined Locks to get tax cut

COMBINED LOCKS — The proposed village budget for 1973 follows a pattern set by other local municipalities this fall Because of the federal revenue sharing windfall, a tax cut has been achieved despite higher government spending

Officials here are planning to spend $1,501,251 in 1973, an increase of $126,508 over the 1972 budget At the same time the property tax levy will decrease $10 469, to $1,074,682

The lower levy will be supported by a tax base that grew $829,400 during 1972 dropping the tax rate $2 for next year A $1 increase in the state tax credit pulls the net tax rate down to $44 42 per $1,000 of assessed value in 1973 13 less than the rate this year

Significantly the $44 42 rate proposed for 1973 is $5 04 less than the tax charged in 1971, giving property owners a tax cut for the second year in a row Property in Combined Locks is assessed at about 55 per cent of true value so the owner of a $20 000 home would pay approximately $488 in 1973 compared to $544 in 1971

The village is also debt free, other than its obligations to the Kimberly school district Village President Marvin Schumacher said, We believe in the philosophy of pay as you go as much as possible,' — and this means that major capital improvements and land purchases have been included in yearly budgets, instead of being financed with bond issues

Some of the capital outlays aren t spent in the budget year so these amounts carry over to the next budget and this year the surplus has been set at $105,000, and listed under miscellaneous receipts

Of the $105 000 surpulus from 1972 $28,000 is from federal revenue sharing and the rest is from funds budgeted for park development this year but not spent The village s share of federal revenue in 1973 adds another $78,000 to budget receipts

The Kimberly school district which has lowered taxes for the last four years, also contributes to the village's stable budgeting Total school taxes (which include vocational district and utility district levies) will be $710,126 in 1973, compared to $732,000 last year and $796,000 in 1971

A breakdown of projected spending shows that the public works budget will more than double the 1972 level increasing from $97,700 to $232,100 The big increase is caused by spending for the regional sewage system that will connect Combined Locks with a new treatment plant in Kaukauna

A total of $48,000 has been budgeted as the village's share of the design phase of the regional system, and another $69,000 has been budgeted for interceptor sewers that will link the village part of Kimberly and Darboy to the main line

Park development has been given high priority again In the parks and playgrounds budget account $13,250 is set aside for development of Van Zeeland Park, $7,000 for the new (Wallace Street) park and $15,000 for Blaese Park

In the buildings and grounds account $30 000 is designated for the purchase of additional ravine land, as part of the village s five year park plan

Other spending is $10,340 for the police and fire departments $2 000 for administration, $21,500 for insurance welfare and auditing expenses, $148,868 for salaries of municipal employes and officials, and $265,277 for general government expenses The total buildings and grounds budget is $79,700 the total parks budget is $31 340

In the public works category money for road and street improvements has increased from $27,000 to $55,000

The public hearing on the budget has been set for the first meeting of the village board on Dec 5

Policy involvement Youth coalition aim

FOND DU LAC Wis (AP) — A Wisconsin Youth Coalition aimed at developing communication among youth organizations and helping young people become involved in policy making decisions has been formed in the state with a young Fond du Lac man serving as its temporary chairman

James Burnham an employe of Advocap Inc the Fond du Lac County Community Action Program (CAP) said the coalition has the support of local community action agencies throughout the state and of Community Training and Development Inc (CTD) a Fond du Lac-based arm of the state s anti-poverty program

"Our main purpose is to share and exchange ideas about each other's youth programs so they can be strengthened," Burnham said, "but we'd also like to get youth involved locally in their own community on decision-making bodies They should be on the boards of CAP agencies, possibly some of the educational boards too, so youth can get their input and be part of the decision-making process"

The coalition is interested in placing a representative on the Governor s Commission for Youth and developing local youth programs

In Fond du Lac Burnham and about 20 other involved young persons are hoping to develop a youth center with an educational rather than recreational purpose

It would have to rely on local funding Burnham said because it doesn t appear there s any federal aid available only technical assistance But we hope to have a comprehensive program aimed at high school dropouts and potential dropouts Youth would operate the center

Although the coalition and local groups are poverty program oriented their programs will be open to all youths from 14 to 25

Unlike local groups the state coalition may have access to federal funds It has been told that the Office of Economic Opportunity has made available a $500,000 incentive grant, guaranteeing each OFO region $36,000 which is to be matched by the regional office so each region has $52,000 with which to develop regional and state youth organizations

It's horses vs. hunters

Mary-Annette Baumgarten Kaukauna, and Marie Fiscella Appleton are fearful for the lives of their horses And they say they will ask the Town of Grand Chute Board to do something about protecting them

The two young women own horses which are kept in the stables at the Edgewood Ranch 1701 W Edgewood Drive Appleton They claim that five horses have been shot in the area in the past two years including Miss Fiscella s Thursday

They are very angry with deer hunters who they claim arecareless and with area law enforcement officials who they claim have shown no sincere interest in their concern

"We really love our horses, and they're getting shot up right in front of us," Marie said

They are especially angry at the Town of Grand Chute officers who investigated the alleged shooting of the ear of Marie's horse Thursday afternoon He sympathized more with the deer hunters who were in the area than those concerned about the horse she said

John Arft Grand Chute constable said he had talked to the officer who told him he didn t believe the horse had been shot but rather had been bitten or cut by a barbed wire fence A shotgun slug would have done more damage Arft said

He said the women and the owners of the ranch Mr and Mrs Gordon Schnur probably are still jumpy after the shooting of a pony on the ranch about 4 a m Oct 30

The pony was shot in the eye and the bullet lodged in his sinuses Miss Baumgarten said He s blind in both eyes but may regain his sight in one eye she quoted a veterinarian as saying

That morning the other horses were spooked by the shot and broke through a fence, she related The Outagamie County officers helped herd them back but never continued the investigation, she claimed

Both women agreed there was little the enforcement authorities could do but they still were angry for what they considered the lack of concern

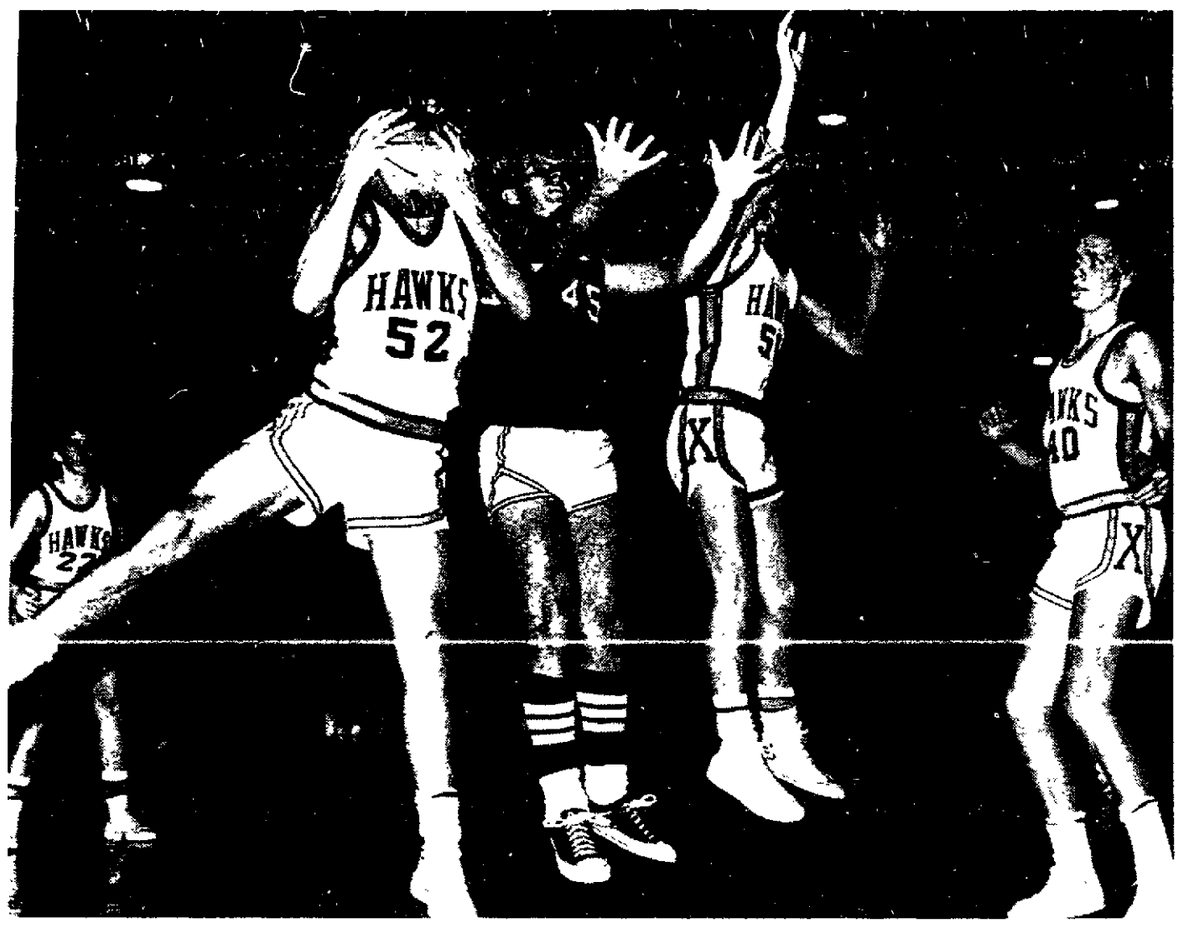

Miss Baumgarten said she and Miss Fiscella plan to take their case to the town board They will ask the board to extend the no firearms restriction now in effect in the town south of U S 41 to north of 41 in the residential area including around the Edgewood Ranch

They believe the area has developed enough residentially in the past few years to justify the extension They said the Edgewood Ranch is three quarters of a mile north of 41 on County Trunk JJ

Arft said past attempts to restrict firearms use north of 41 have been voted down by the town board which doesn t believe the danger is that great He said he believed there were some residential areas north of 41 where the restriction probably should be in effect but not around the Edgewood Ranch

The two women said a bay window of one of the residences near the ranch was shot out and a nearby farmer's heifer shot and killed last year

Packers need victory to hold division lead

GREEN BAY, Wis. (AP) — The Green Bay Packers received unexpected good news Friday when it was determined a "slight possibility" exists running back Bob Hudson, a valued special teams performer, may play Sunday at Washington.

Hudson sprained a knee at Houston last weekend and a few days ago was feared lost for the season.

"Bob has had a remarkable recovery—but people are getting well awfully quickly for this game," Coach Dan Devine said.

Sunday's game will be the first in a series of three that probably will decide the Packers' National Football League playoff ambitions. The next two opponents are division rivals Detroit and Minnesota.

Green Bay (7-3) needs a victory to regain a one game lead in the National Conference Central over Detroit, which climbed to within half a game by defeating the New York Jets Thursday.

Washington, 9-1 with a seven game winning streak, saw its Eastern Division lead over Dallas increased to 1½ games when the Cowboys lost to San Francisco Thursday.

"They are a talented and experienced ball club and well coached in all aspects," Devine said of the Redskins, gunning for their first division championship since 1945.

The Redskins' offense, fifth most productive in the league, is built around halfback Larry Brown, who with 1,077 yards is headed for his second NFC rushing title in three years.

But Devine cautioned the Packer secondary, which has surrendered only two touchdown passes all season, will be severely tested by Washington quarterback Billy Kilmer.

"They throw long quite a bit," Devine said. "When you've got (receivers) Roy Jefferson and Charley Taylor out there, you've got to throw long. Taylor, I might add, was probably the greatest running back in Arizona State's history and Jefferson is an outstanding wide receiver."

If Hudson can't play, the Packers may activate free agent Ward Walsh, who in one game with Houston last year rushed for 56 yards. Walsh reputedly is an excellent special teams player.

Devine also said offensive tackle Francis Peay may return to the lineup after recovering from a stomach disorder that has sidelined him for three games.

The Vackers conceivably could meet the Redskins again this season—in the playoffs.

The Central Division winner is scheduled to play at the home of the Western champion the weekend of Dec. 23-24. But if the NFC's wild card team—the one with the best record among the non-champions—comes from the East, the Central winner will play at the home of the East runnerup.

With Washington 9-1 and Dallas 8-3, it appears the wild card team will come from the East.

Zephyrs edge Roncalli in close struggle, 48-44

BY GEORGE MANCOSKY
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

MENASHA — It was former pupil (Jim Kersten) vs. former teacher (Ralph Mc Clone) in a real "fingernail biter" here Friday night and the teacher's team prevailed when St. Mary Central nipped Manitowoc Roncalli, 48-44.

The victory leveled the Zephyrs' Fox Valley Christian Conference record at 1-1 and their overall mark at 2-2. The Jets of Kersten, who starred for St. Mary in the mid-1950's, are 0-2 in the league and a composite 0-3.

To register the triumph, the Zephyrs had to score the last six points of the game while holding the Jets scoreless for the final three minutes.

With 3:27 remaining, the hosts, who had led most of the way until being overtaken in the final frame, tied the score at 42-all on a basket by Dave Michalkiewicz after a steal. On the subsequent throw-in, Roncalli's Dave Hartl was left unguarded under the basket and put the visitors ahead with an easy goal.

Then with 2:49 to play, Herb Hubert, 6-3 sophomore transfer from Neenah, elevated to the varsity because 6-3 Bill Mauthe was injured sunk a jump shot to tie the score at 44-all.

Seemed like eternity

A fielder from the top of the circle by Michalkiewicz with 1:11 to play put St. Mary ahead and, although they didn't trail again, the final minute must have seemed like an eternity to the Zephyr fans.

At the 50-second mark, the Jets' Pat Mahlik missed a shot and St. Mary rebounded but turned the ball over on a muffed pass.

A scramble under the Roncalli basket with 16 seconds left found the Jets' Jim Liest a foul victim, but he missed the free throw and the visitors claimed the rebound but were tied up.

St. Mary controlled the ball, but in the melee Dick Kobinsky was tagged with a foul and Mahlik missed the first shot on a bonus situation with seven seconds left on the clock, the Zephyrs rebounding.

Roncalli then was forced to foul to stop the action and Joe Kosiorek made the final margin four points with a pair of free throws in the last two seconds.

The earlier going had seen St. Mary take a 14-9 lead at the end of the first quarter, had it dwindle to 24-23 at halftime and increase by two at 36-33 at the end of three segments.

The Jets went ahead, 39-37, with six straight points in the fourth quarter and moved ahead, 42-38, only to have the Zephyrs fight back to get the 42-all tie and the eventual decision.

The Menashans were outrebounded, 54-32, but overcame the deficit with aggressiveness on defense. Their press helped create 38 Roncalli turnovers.

Michalkiewicz, praised by the coach for directing the attack well, led the victors with 23 points. Hubert was next with eight.

Hartl topped Roncalli with 17 points on four baskets and eight free throws in 10 tries. Although the Jets missed critical free throws late in the game, Hartl kept them in business earlier in the fourth period by sinking seven in a row from the line. Larry Rand was runnerup with 12 points.

Mc Clone was pleased with the bench for in addition to the absence of the two seniors, 6-5 sophomore center Chris Fahrbach ran into foul trouble early and his playing time only totaled about a quarter. Tom Wollerman, Don Zielinski, Al Jensen and Joe Kosiorek also received plaudits from the coach.

Hit 16 of 65

Statistically, St. Mary hit 16 of 65 field goal attempts and 10 of 21 from the line. The Jets were 14 of 63 from the floor and 16 of 26 in the charity department. The latter only had six field goal tries in the last quarter.

Hawks trim FVL, 74-48

BY MIKE BATES

It was like old times in the Xavier High School gymnasium Friday night as the Hawks defeated a stubborn Fox Valley Lutheran quint, 74-48 in a Fox Valley Christian Conference encounter.

Led by a sparkling performance by senior Joe Schneider the Hawks rolled to their second consecutive league triumph and third win against no losses in overall action. The 6-4 center rattled the nets for 35 points and climbed the boards for 23 rebounds.

The Foxes, who were forced to play the final three quarters without the services of junior playmaker Tom Grow, went down to their second straight FVCC setback. Grow was injured late in the first period in an unusual mishap — his glasses were shattered while he was battling under the boards for a rebound. He was taken to a doctor for treatment for a possible scratched retina, and did not return to the court.

Fox Valley had fought its way back from an early 6-2 XHS lead to deadlock the Hawks at 8-8 with Grow chalking up two baskets and helping out on another score with a beautiful pass before the 5-11 guard was injured.

An early second quarter surge gave the scrappy Foxes a 17-14 advantage, but Schneider came back with two free throws and a 15-foot jumper from the corner to put the Hawks back in front, 18-17.

The Foxes then countered with two charity tosses at the 4:54 mark by Tom Hanke for their final lead of the night — 19-18.

Put on press

Xavier, with the aid of a full-court press and great teamwork took an 8-point margin (32-24) to the locker room as the Hawks outscored the Foxes 13-6 in the final half of the quarter.

In the third quarter, the Hawks were not content to sit on their slim point spread and the XHS machine out played and out-fought the small Foxes at both ends of the court for a comfortable 50-34 margin at the end of the third segment.

With FVL unable to connect from the floor in the final quarter until John Schultz hit a basket with 3:42 to be played the Hawks opened a commanding margin, 66-34.

Schneider's points came by way of 14 baskets and free throw accuracy, converting 7 of 8 attempts. Wayne Griesbach added 10 points to the Hawk attack.

For the Foxes, Hanke had 17 points and Schultz added 10. Xavier hit on 31 of 71 floor shots for a 43 per cent clip. Fox Valley fired away at a 30 per cent rate, making 19 of 62 attempts.

Roll to victory over Lourdes

Dutchmen explode in 4th quarter

BY MARY HARP

OSHKOSH — Utilizing a combination of a full court press which had the Lourdes Knights stymied into totalling a mere five fourth quarter points and committing an amazing amount of turnovers, paired with the hot hand of Dutchmen Dave Van Lieshout, St. John High School rolled over Oshkosh Lourdes in a Fox Valley Christian Conference contest, 72-56.

The Knights controlled the scoreboard for most of the second and third periods and until the 6:20 mark in the fourth canto. It was at that point that Van Lieshout ignited a 17-point Little Chute rally which put the Dutchmen in the lead for the first time since early in the second frame

With the help of some Terry Jansen rebounding, Van Lieshout canned eight fourth period points and Bob Baumann added seven in bringing the Dutchmen from the third quarter deficit.

The rally and full court press outscored Oshkosh, 26-5 as well as forcing many turnovers and fouls, converting the basketball court into a facsimile of a football field.

The initial period was see-saw most of the way through, with the Chuter's Mike Casey and Lourdes' John Kita counting eight markers Casey poured in six out of the last seven Dutchmen points to put them ahead, 20-16 at the end.

Took over lead

In the second stanza Oshkosh immediately cut down the deficit and took over the lead. The canto ended on a Terry Jansen jumper which brought the Chuters within four, 37-33.

The winners came out lively in the second half and managed to tie things up at the 5:59 mark, only to fall behind once again. Later in the quarter Scott Schommer brought the Dutchmen to another tie, 45-all, but Lourdes reeled off six straight points to open things up. Van Lieshout finished up third period scoring with a charity toss to set the score at 51-46 with Lourdes in the lead.

Todd Jansen got things off to a good start in the fourth period by scoring a bucket and added a free throw, to bring the winners within two. Hirte then tallied for Lourdes, the last man to score for almost 4:00 as the SJ rally began.

Van Lieshout scored 23 points in leading the SJ attack, with Casey adding 17. Kita counted 20 for the hosts.

Robertson and Dandridge spark Bucks' triumph

BY MIKE O'BRIEN
ASSOCIATED PRESS SPORTS WRITER

MILWAUKEE (AP) — The Milwaukee Bucks managed to neutralize the most remarkable little man in the National Basketball Association Friday night, though it took two superstars to do it.

Not that anyone was faulting Nate Archibald, who totaled 26 points and 16 assists, extending his NBA record of consecutive games of 10 or more assists to 11.

But Archibald's point total was nearly nine under his league leading average, and that was the difference as the Bucks, behind Oscar Robertson and Bob Dandridge, checked a Kansas City-Omaha comeback for a 115-106 victory.

The victory snapped a slump which had seen the Bucks drop four of five starts and kept them half a game behind Midwest Division leader Chicago, which beat Golden State 100-96.

Robertson, celebrating his 34th birthday with 16 points and 10 assists, also did a remarkable defensive job on Archibald, lightning quick and 10 years younger. Robertson guarded Archibald much of the way after he had burned Lucius Allen for nine points in the first nine minutes.

But Kings' Coach Bob Cousy said Robertson should share the credit with Milwaukee's 7-foot-2 Kareem Abdul-Jabbar, who also scored 26 points and used his height advantage of at least 13 inches to shut off Archibald's lanes to the basket.

"Oscar may be 34, but a guy 24 would have just as much trouble because no one is as quick as Nate is," Cousy said. "He'll get by anybody—I don't care who he is."

"But you have Jabbar back there protecting the lane, which other teams don't have," he said. "Not too many people are going to drive the lane on Jabbar."

Bucks Coach Larry Costello said Robertson tried to force Archibald into the corners "because when he gets in the middle it gives him situations to drive in or pass off."

"We tried to get him in the corner but it didn't work," Robertson said. "Then I tried to keep him in the middle and hoped I got some help."

Abdul-Jabbar not only provided the help, but snatched 17 rebounds and gave the Kings' young centers, Sam Lacey and Mike Ratliff, a lesson in maneuvering.

Lacey hit 10 of 14 shots for 23 points, but lost much of his effectiveness after picking up his fifth foul with the score 68-68 late in the third quarter. Lacey fouled out with 8:04 to play and the Bucks up by 92-83.

The Kings closed to within 94-93 with 5:25 left, but three successive baskets by Dandridge and three point plays by Robertson and Curtis Perry lifted the Bucks out of trouble.

Costello called it "a touch win, a good win," but said the Kings aren't in the same class as the Bucks' three recent conquerors—Los Angeles, New York and Boston. All three burned the Bucks with a running game, and Costello still isn't satisfied with his own team's fast break.

"We're not running as well as we can and we aren't capitalizing on the breaks," he said. "When we do fast break, it's just one guy dribbling. You've got to pass off and keep moving the ball, because the defense can react if there's only one man dribbling."

The three Wisconsin products on the Kings' roster made minimal contributions.

Don Kojis, veteran from West Allis and Marquette University, scored eight points. Ratliff, rookie center from Racine and University of Wisconsin-Eau Claire, had four points and six rebounds while Frank Schade of Wausau, Ratliff's teammate at UW-Eau Claire, didn't play.

"Ratliff and Schade both have potential, but they're not playing much and for me to say they're going to be super players would just be throwing words at you," Cousy said. "Next year I'll know a lot more about them."

"It's to their advantage not to play much at this stage," he said. "The transition from college to the NBA is every bit as pronounced as from college baseball to the major leagues. Ratliff actually played Jabbar better than Lacey in spots, but for Ratliff to play that much against Jabbar under these circumstances—well, I don't know if it helped him or not."

2 share lead in golf meet

HILTON HEAD ISLAND, S.C. (AP) — At 36, Bobby Nichols isn't exactly considered a doddering ancient on the pro golf tour. He has won $50,000 or more eight of the last nine years.

But Bobby took a look at the youth movement at the top of the two-round standings in the $125,000 Heritage Golf Classic on Friday and admitted:

"I'm glad I've got a club job."

Johnny Miller, 25, and Forest Fezler, 23, shared the lead after 36 holes with 136 totals, Miller vaulting into a share of first place with a six-under-par 65 in his second round at the Ocean Course and Fezler taking a 66 at the tougher Harbour Town golf links, where the final two rounds will be played.

Don Iverson, 27, a second-year man on the tour, was alone with a 69—137, while the group at 139 included Nichols, Lou Graham, Homero Blancas, Jerry Heard, Lanny Wadkins and Allen Miller—no relation to Johnny.

Heard and Graham had second-round 68s; Nichols—the head pro at the Firestone Club in Akron, Ohio—and Wadkins had 69s; Miller and Blancas shot 71s.

First-round leader Bob Erickson fell back into the pack with a 75—141.

Jack Nicklaus, Lee Trevino, Arnold Palmer, Gary Player and Billy Casper are not competing in this event, the next-to-last on the long 1972 pro golf schedule.

UCLA opens as favorite over Badgers

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The second season of the Walton Gang era that has extended UCLA's basketball dynasty opens tonight when the Bruins meet Wisconsin in Pauley Pavilion.

The Bruins, the preseason choice for top ranking in The Associated Press poll, open with three starters from the team that cruised to a 30-0 record in 1971-72 for an unprecedented sixth consecutive national championship

The season revolves around numbers for the Bruins of Coach John Wooden, who starts his 25th season at the Westwood campus.

Besides seeking an eighth national title in a row, which would be nine of the last 10, the big number is 60.

The magic dates on the Bruins' 26-game regular season schedule are Jan. 25 and 27. Against Loyola in Chicago on the 25th, UCLA could tie University of San Francisco's record game winning streak set in the Bill Russell days, 1955-57. At Notre Dame on the 27th, the Bruins would break it.

"The players haven't mentioned it," says Wooden. His UCLA teams of the 1960s had winning streaks of 47 and 41 games.

"I hope we aren't playing for the record," says Wooden. "Of course I want it. But I wanted it even before our streak started.

"Our chances of doing it are probably in direct proportion to our keeping it in perspective."

Key Bruin is Bill Walton, college basketball's Player-of-theYear as a sophomore. The 6-foot-11, 220-pound red-headed center has tendonitis in his knees but he's learned to live with pain," says Wooden. His backup, 6-11 Swen Nater is more than adequate.

Junior Keith Wilkes, 6-6½, and senior Larry Farmer, 6-5, return at forward spots.

Larry Hollyfield, 6-4½ senior, was the Bruins' "super sub" last year but he'll start at a guard spot against Wisconsin.

Injured Johnson will play against LA Rams

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The first word on the injury to San Francisco 49er cornerback Jim Johnson, from team Dr. Lloyd Milburn, is that "chances are good that he'll be able to play against Los Angeles."

The 49ers had Friday off after their Thanksgiving Day 31-10 victory over Dallas, the National Football League's defending champions. All-Pro Johnson left the game with a sprained knee.

The victory moved San Francisco half a game ahead of Los Angeles in the National Football Conference West. The Rams are the 49ers' next opponent, in a Monday night game here Dec. 4.

The Rams can move back into a tie for the lead by beating New Orleans Sunday.

Cyclones post first win

MANITOWOC — The UW-Fox Valley Center combined a stringent defense with a well-balanced attack (five men crossed the double figure threshold) to stop UW-Manitowoc, 80-66, in a Wisconsin Collegiate Conference here recently.

The Cyclones are now 1-2 in WCC play and 1-4 overall.

The visitors came out with a full court press, which was successfully broken by Fox Valley. Lew Holinbeck sparked the winners' defense by blocking several shots in key situations

The Cyclones made 35 field goals in 75 tries, while Manitowoc managed 26 of 82.

Wayne Bousley and Tony Kohl sparked the Cyclone attack with 17 markers apiece, Holinbeck contributed 16, and Paul Strawser and Gary Hurley chipped in with 10. Kohl, a 6-6 graduate of Appleton East, also made 15 rebounds

Dave Kenny meshed 16 points for Manty.

Celts improve record to 17-2 with victory

BOSTON (AP) — New York Knicks Coach Red Holtzman wasn't very happy after his team was beaten by the Boston Celtics 114-97 Friday night, but he wasn't about to throw in the towel, either.

"I can't worry all night," Holzman said, thinking ahead to tonight's rematch between the National Basketball Association Atlantic Division powers in New York.

"I'm going home and have a drink. Of course, I may beat my wife and I may kick the dog, which would be a good trick because we don't have a dog. I could kick a neighbor's dog—but the last time he bit me."

The Celtics out-rebounded the Knicks 51-47 and hit on 46 of 94 floor shots in hiking their record to 17-2. New York is runnerup to Boston in the Atlantic Division with a 17-4 mark. The Knicks shot only 38 per cent, hitting on 35 of 92 field goal attempts.

In other NBA games, Chicago nipped Golden State 100-96, Milwaukee topped Kansas City-Omaha 115-106, Buffalo beat Philadelphia 105-96 and Los Angeles whipped Detroit 140-123.

In the American Basketball Association, it was New York 109, Utah 102; Carolina 119, Memphis 105; Indiana 109, Kentucky 99, and Denver 130, San Diego 111.

Chet Walker provided the spark Chicago needed to top Golden State. The veteran forward scored 35 points, seven of them in the closing minutes—including a clutch basket with 35 seconds remaining to play to put the game out of reach.

Rick Barry was high man for the Warriors with 22 points.

Buffalo scored eight straight points late in the fourth quarter to sink Philadelphia's record to 1-20. The 76ers had trailed by just 90-87 with 3:20 remaining.

For Buffalo, Dick Garrett scored 26 points and Bob Kauffman added 20 points and a game-high 21 rebounds. Guards Kevin Loughery and Fred Carter topped Philadelphia with 18 points.

The Lakers won their 11th game in a row as Jerry West combined 16 points with 18 assists. They hit 66 per cent of their shots from the field, with Gail Goodrich scoring 23, Jim McMillian 18 and Happy Hairston 16.

Dave Bing scored 29 points for Detroit, which was never really in the game, falling behind 43-25 after the first period, 79-46 at halftime and 109-74 going into the final stanza.

Hunting Fishing Outlook

SOUTHERN DISTRICT

Horicon Area

Duck hunting has fallen off at Horicon due to low water and freezing conditions. The lakes are skimmed over with ice but not yet safe for ice fishing. Deer hunting pressure is down and success is down.

Madison Area.

Deer hunters are enjoying fair success, with considerably less hunting pressure than last year. Hunters are impaired by large standing cornfields and wet lowlands. Small game hunters are having fair success.

Dodgeville Area

45,000 to 50,000 bluebills are on the Mississippi River off the mouth of the Platte River. Water is still quite high.

Southern District Deer Report

There is no snow with temperatures ranging from the 20's at night to the low 30's during the day. Conditions generally are wet and the woods are noisy, but the visibility has been fair to good. Hunting pressure is down because of lack of snow and wet conditions in many areas. Registrations are down in district except in Columbia and Jefferson counties where they are up about 10 per cent. Hunters report seeing lots of deer and some with good racks. No lost hunters. The special hunt in Governor Dodge State Park has been reported successful. One hundred permits were issued for the hunt and so far 60 deer, including 40 bucks, have been bagged in the park.

SOUTHEAST DISTRICT

Deer hunting pressure is moderate. Lack of snow is hindering the hunters. An 18 point buck weighing over 200 pounds was taken in southern Waukesha County. Pheasant hunting is improving as more crops are being harvested and waters are receding in the marshes. Duck hunting is slow, and fishing is practically at a standstill with only a few coho being taken in the Oak Creek area of Milwaukee County.

LAKE MICHIGAN DISTRICT

Green Bay Area

Manitowoc County — Some coho salmon remain in the streams. Fishing activity has been light, but some nice coho and king salmon have been taken in the Manitowoc and Little Manitowoc rivers. The deer hunting kill for the opening weekend has been light due to wet conditions.

Door County — Lots of water in the woods. The coho run is over.

Oshkosh Area

Winnebago County — Mallards and snow geese are in the area. Duck hunters are on Lake Winnebago but few ducks have been taken.

Fond du Lac County — The eastern part of the county shows an increase in registration and the western part shows a decrease. Hunting pressure is light and fishing is almost at a standstill.

Manitowoc County — About 1,400 Canada geese remain in Collins Marsh, along with 2,500 to 3,000 mallards, but few people are hunting them. All of the wildlife areas have been stocked for pheasant hunting.

GREEN BAY DEER REPORT

Hunting conditions: No snow, temperatures about 30 degrees in the morning and rising to 30-40 degrees during the day. Marshes continue to be wet and the woods are noisy. Visibility has been very good. Hunting pressure has dropped off after the opening weekend with very few hunters in the field. Hunting will pick up on Thanksgiving Day. No bear have been registered so far.

NORTH CENTRAL DISTRICT DEER REPORT

The hunting conditions for the areas of the North Central District: Only a trace of snow at Woodruff. On Monday, the Antigo area got about a half inch of snow, which melted away by noon. No snow has fallen in the Wisconsin Rapids area. Temperatures vary from the low 20's to the low 30's throughout the entire district. The conditions were wet on Sunday in the Antigo area, but dry in the Wisconsin Rapids and Woodruff areas all day. All areas have reported noisy conditions in the woods. All three areas report that hunting pressure is down from last year. There were no unusual concentrations of hunters in the woods, in fact, all of the areas report that hunters were scarce.

Bear registrations: Ten so far in the Woodruff area, none in the Wisconsin Rapids area and five from around Antigo. One large bear was reported, a 400 pound bear killed in Unit 37 of the Woodruff area.

WEST CENTRAL DISTRICT

La Crosse Area

Hunting conditions and success are good in La Crosse, Vernon and Crawford counties. Duck hunting is slow and few hunters are out. Ruffed grouse and squirrels still showing up and walleye and sauger are being caught below the locks and dams on the Mississippi River. Other fishing is slow.

Black River Falls Area

All outdoor activity is directed toward deer hunting. Deer hunting success is about the same as last year. A few many bucks in the 200 pound size class taken in Trempealeau County. Hunting conditions have been excellent for the lack of snow cover.

Inquisitive creel clerk works for DNR

MANITOWOC, Wis. (AP) — Did you ever have someone walk up to you carried a nice string of fish to your car and ask to check the weight of the fish and where you caught them?

He's not being overly curious. He's just doing his job.

His official title is creel census clerk, and he is an employe of the Wisconsin Department of Natural Resources.

The job is to keep track of where fish are being caught and what size they are.

If you're in the Manitowoc area, the man asking the questions during the fishing season is Jim Baumgart.

Around Kewaunee-Door County, it would be Chuck Whitte.

The job of a creel census clerk is a front-line position of the DNR, the employes who meet the public.

While the primary job of the men is to audit catches for the DNR for survey purposes rather than law enforcement, they are also ready, willing and able to ask questions.

The most common queries involve fin clipping and tagging of fish. They also volunteer information on where fish are biting.

With information compiled by these census clerks, the DNR can assess the success of fish planting and compile technical data to be used to improve and enlarge fishing programs.

Federal aid is also available for rearing fish if a creel census clerk in hired and on duty.

While checking catches, these men also check lamprey scarring and look for possible fungus diseases.

The two men working the mid-Wisconsin and Door County area report scarring down, and point to that as evidence the state's lamprey control programs are working.

Baumgart says he checked 20-50 fish daily, with some busy 10-hour work days running up to 200 fish checks.

Most of the creel census clerks have completed their outside work for this year. But if you bump into one next season, don't feel he's trying to pry loose the secret of some fishing hole known only to you.

He's only doing his job so fishing will be even greater in the future.

A field goal try?

George Allen breaks sacred commandment

The large, swarthy gentleman was irate. It immediately became obvious that he'd dropped a buck on a professional football contest and, as is so often the case with bettors, he thought some hanky-panky had been going on.

"The Redskins were on the Giants' four-yard line," the man said. "And they were leading 20-13 with 20 seconds to play. Ordinarily, it seems to me, the quarterback would just fall on the ball and let the clock run.

Next Billy Kilmer calls TIME OUT, for godsake, and then they go on to score. The Skins were favored by ten over the Giants and I think those Washington players had some bets down on themselves."

"Well, sir," I said, copping out, "Im sure the explanation is not that simple." And it isn't.

It all started with the New York Giants' big-mouth defensive coach, Jim Garrett (coaching assistants, if you've noticed, are ordinarily the quietest of soldiers), and it ended when Redskin headman George Allen broke one of his own, sacred 10,00 commandments.

Garrett's defense was destroyed by Larry Brown for 191 yards in their first meeting on October 29. So before thhe November 12 rematch, Garrett told the press, "W're going to beat the Redskins; we're going to hold Larry Brown to under 110 yards and you can take that back to Washington." Then he added, "I'll guarantee it."

Ensconced in a little office deep inside the Redskins' fancy hideout near Dulles Airport, a man named Ed Boynton let out a war whoop when he opened the morning papers. Boynton is known to the players as "007." He's Allen's security chief, but when he's not chasing reporters, he's clipping their work for use on Allen's famous locker room bulletin board.

While Allen doesn't mind receiving the press corps' bounty, he certainly will not give any. He repeatedly reminds his players that they must not say anything that might prove interesting to the opposition, which is to say that the Redskins are not to say anything of substance. Ever mindful, Allen's players have become masters of the empty sentence.

Careful preparation

Center George Burman, a longtime Allen faithful, maintains that the coach's ice cream parties, high school cheers, and clipping mania are but frosting on a cake of careful praparation. "But we got pretty excited over Garrett's remarks," he admitted.

"With 20 seconds left, word somehow got to the huddle that Larry needed only one yard to break a thousand," said Burman. "So Kilmer called time out. Later, all the players confirmed the reason . . . Allen had nothing to do with it."

Unlike many running backs (especially sensational ones), Brown works and socializes throughout the week with his offensive linemen. The line, undoubtedly needled by Allen's constant reminders of the Garrett comments, wanted to plot a further triumph for Larry.

The handoff to Brown on the four gave him his second touchdown of the day and 106 yards against the Giant defense . . . but "only" 995 for the year. The players had been misinformed.

A pushing and shoving match followed the extra point, which not only involved Garrett and Skins' assistant Ralph Hawkins but also Allen's 15-year-old son, Bruce. Young Bruce had seen those locker room clippings too.

Alex Webster, the Giants' head coach, accused Allen's Redskins of "pouring it on," while around the country everyone who had the Giants and 10 points dug deep.

It is safe to bet that Allen shortly thereafter received a discreet phone call from Commissioner Pete Rozelle, a man who is acutely aware that a large amount is waggered weekly on his league's games.

Meanwhile, Allen broke his cardinal commandmrnt. He told a dozen reporters that the New York Giants were "crybabies.' His players, cheering and jeering, still won't let Allen forget that he "lost control of his mouth."

Back at Redskin Park, 007's scissors, ever loyal, somehow missed a clip.

Orr sparks Bruins to 4-0 victory

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Bobby Orr is alive and well— and so are the Boston Bruins.

The Bruins overpowered the expansion Atlanta Flames 4-0 Friday night, as Orr scored one goal and assisted on two others.

It was the fifth straight victory for the defending Stanley Cup champions, who before they went on the streak were playing only .500 hockey.

But Boston couldn't gain ground on Montreal in the National Hockey League's East Division, as the Canadiens routed Vancouver 9-1 in Friday night's only other NHL game. Montreal is in first place with 35 points, followed by the New York Rangers, 29, and Boston, 26.

In World Hockey Association play, Winnipeg nipped Quebec 5-3, New England defeated Alberta 7-2, Cleveland came from behind to beat Los Angeles 3-2 in overtime and Minnesota topped Philadelphia 6-4.

Orr, Boston's superstar defenseman, is just beginning to round into top form following off-season knee surgery. He scored a pair of goals Thursday night.

Orr set up Mike Walton for Boston's first goal against Atlanta, which came just 35 seconds into the opening period. Orr got an assist as rookie Greg Sheppard made it 2-0, then scored on a short punch shot late in the third period to make it 3-0.

Boston's final goal was an unassisted tally by Don Marcotte in the third period.

Gerry O'Flaherty scored for Montreal with the game just 28 seconds old, but the Canadiens responded with four goals in the remainder of the opening period and the rout was on.

Frank Mahovlich, Jacques Lemaire and Murray Wilson scored two goals apiece for Montreal, which outshot Vancouver 38-26. Lemaire now has 19 goals on the season.

Bobby Hull was the hero for Winnipeg, scoring his eighth goal of the season midway through the final period to break a 3-3 tie. It his second goal of the night, and he also had an assist.

New England exploded for five goals in the second period to beat Alberta as seven different players scored for the Whalers. Ross Perkins had scored twice within the first 2:27 of the game to give the Oilers an early 2-0 lead.

Cleveland battled back from a 2-0 deficit, then finally beat the Sharks on Gerry Pinder's second goal of the night, 4:44 into the overtime. Pinder's first goal came at 4:56 of the third period, just 58 seconds before teammate Gary Jarrett tied the score on a three-man breakaway.

Rookie Terry Ryan's shorthanded goal broke a 4-4 tie for Minnesota midway through the final period. Billy Klatt of Minnesota and Andre Lacroix of Philadelphia each scored two goals in the game.

Racer paralyzed after accident

LAKE HAVASU, Ariz (AP) — Boat race driver Michael Schnell of Stockton, Calif., was paralyzed from the waist down with a back injury suffered Friday during a practice run for the $65,000 Outboard World Championship on Lake Havasu, race officials said.

Schnell's tunnel hull boat flipped over in one of three unrelated accidents with injuries Friday morning, bringing to six the number of crashes during tune-ups for the two-day race that begins Saturday.

Schnell, 22, was flown to St. Joseph's Hospital in Phoenix, Ariz.

Other drivers hurt were Jim Chapman, 30, of Albuquerque, N.M., severely sprained left ankle, and George Rodriguez, 37, Lima, Peru, injured right shoulder and left leg.

Bobick denies signing wrestling pact

NORFOLK, Va. (AP)—"Boxing is my thing," says Olympic boxer Duane Bobick, and it's "strictly a rumor" that he has signed a professional wrestling contract, the Norfolk Virginian Pilot reported today.

Bobick, contacted at his home in Bowlus, Minn., Thursday, said, "I haven't signed any kind of contract with anyone yet. I have some offers I'm considering and I'll probably be making up my mind within the next month."

The St. Paul Pioneer Press reported Wednesday that Bobick had signed a pro wrestling pact with millionaire Vern Gagne of Minneapolis.

Gagne told Virginian-Pilot sports writer Bill Howard that the wrestling report was "only talk."

Gagne said he has a group that has made Bobick an offer for a boxing contract. Gagne added if Bobick decides against his offer or should the fighter not go into boxing at all, then he is prepared to make Bobick a personal offer to go into wrestling.

"But you know as well as I," Gagne said, "there's very little chance Duane won't go into boxing. He has had his heart set on it for some time now."

The Pioneer Press said Bobick signed a wrestling contract Tuesday in Tahoe, Nev., where he attended the Muhammad Ali-Bob Foster fight as Gagne's guest. The newspaper said Bobick would make his wrestling debut March 6 in the new St. Paul Civic Center.

Bobick, who was stationed here as a Navy enlisted man for three years, told the Virginian-Pilot the purpose of his visit to Nevada was to discuss a boxing contract with Gagne.

"We also talked about the wrestling profession," he added. "That's only natural since he's (Gagne) a big wrestling promoter."

Judge rules NFL may black out Super Bowl

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A Superior Court judge ruled Friday that the National Football League may, if it wishes, black out the Los Angeles area for the Super Bowl game next January.

The action by Judge David N. Eagleson came as he granted a summary judgment to the NFL in a suit brought by two men who describe themselves as football fans and taxpayers.

The suit attempted to wipe out the blackout, and thus permit the Jan. 14 game to be televised locally, was filed by attorneys Harvey A. Schneider and George Hanover, who argued that a blackout would discriminate against Los Angeles viewers.

Eagleson said, "The only right here is the right to get a television program piped into your house and I don't think that is a constitutional right."

The NFL has previously said that if the game is a sellout 10 days prior it will be televised locally on a trial basis.

Ann Landers

Nothing seems to suit teen-ager

Dear Ann Landers: May I say something to the young lady who thinks her mother is "sick" because she screams at her? It sounds suspiciously like what goes on at our house.

Our daughter is charming, gracious, sweet and easy-going — everywhere except at home. She says she gets along beautifully with everyone but us, so it must be our fault. She fights with her brothers, sasses me, and ignores her father. She seems to hate me because I insist she do her share of work around here and treat the members of the family with respect. What comes out of that girl's mouth you wouldn't believe. If I talked that way to my mother I would have had my mouth washed out with soap. When I tell her it isn't necessary to say everything she thinks, she insists it is "fakey" not to express an honest opinion.

I know it's hard to grow up these days, and I have done my darndest to help her make the adjustment from adolescent to young lady, but it seems we can't do anything to suit her. Every day there is a family fight of one kind or another and she is the cause. I've worked off a lot of hostility just writing this letter to you, Ann. Do you have any words of encouragement for mothers of teen-age girls like mine? Believe me, we can use some help. — San Juan, Puerto Rico

Dear S.J.: Since you feel better for having written, perhaps you'd profit from counsleling. Mothers of teen-agers do indeed have a rough go these days and it may be of some comfort for you to know you have a lot of company. Take heart, all of you who are having bad moments with the "Now Generation" — this, too, shall pass.

Dear Readers: LastJunesomeone sent me a poetic essay which she called "Advice to the Unsure." It began, "Go placidly amid the noise and haste and remember what peace there is in silence." The inspirational prose poem concluded with the notation, "Found in St. Paul's Church, Baltimore. Dated 1692."

There hasn't been much peace and silence in my office since I printed that reader's letter. I have learned that the "Baltimore poem" is actually entitled "Desiderata," was written in 1927 by the late Max Ehrmann" published by Crescendo Publishers of 48-50 Melrose Street, Boston, Mass. 02116. Copies of "Desiderata," printed on parchment paper, are available from Crescendo for $1.25.

How the work came to be associated with St. Paul's in Baltimore is an interesting story. The Rev. Frederick L. Kates, rector of St. Paul's from 1956 to 1961, had a custom during Lent of putting mimeographed leaflets of an inspirational nature in the pews of the church. One leaflet included a copy of Mr. Ehrmann's poem. Presumably it was picked up by a parishioner, marked "Found in St. Paul's," and passed on from hand to hand. The date "1692" refers to the founding of Old St. Paul's parish, Baltimore's first church.

"Desiderata" has since been reprinted in church magazines, Reader's Digest and even the Mary Worth comic strip — often with the misleading attribution. With Pleasire, I place the credit where it rightly belongs.

Discover how to be date bait without falling hook, line and sinker. Ann Landers' booklet, "Dating Do's I)6)and Don'ts, 35 cents in coin along with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope and your request to this newspaper.

Today in history

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Saturday, Nov. 25, the 330th day of 1972. There are 36 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1783, the British evacuated New York—their last military position in the United States in the Revolutionary War.

On this date:

In 1758, in the French and Indian War, the British captured Ft. Duquesne at what is now Pittsburgh, Pa.

In 1861, Carson City was selected as Nevada's capital.

In 1863, Union troops captured Missionary Ridge, ending the Civil War Battle of Lookout Mountain in Tennessee.

In 1957, it was disclosed that President Dwight D. Eisenhower had suffered a slight stroke.

In 1963, President John F. Kennedy was buried in Arlington National Cemetery.

In 1964, there was serious rioting in the South Vietnamese capital of Saigon.

Ten years ago: An air force revolt in Guatemala was crushed but only after the presidential palace had been strafed.

Five years ago: More than 75 persons died in a town in Colombia after eating bread contaminated by an insecticide.

One year ago: Authorities in four Western states were searching for an airplane with $200,000 in ransom money.

Today's birthdays: John F. Kennedy Jr. is 12. Composer Virgil Thompson is 76.

Thought for today: You don't set a fox to watching the chickens just because he has a lot of experience in the hen house — President Harry S Truman.

Hints from Heloise

Net for china-painting

Dear Heloise:

I have been painting and teaching china painting for more years than I care to remember.

While preparing to move frome one city to another (with over four hundred cartons), my flannel pieces of material for cushioning my china just simply disappeared.

I always used this between all-sized plates to keep them from cracking and sliding around.

For awhile it seemed to me it would be impossible to stack dozens of plates without using something for safety sake. Now guess what I discovered? Your wonderful nylon net!

I had oodles of it in all shades from all sorts of items I made, thanks to you, so I cut pieces about one inch larger than the plate (or whatever) and am I ever pleased! No more scraping or cracking and sliding.

Hilda Vogel

Dear Heloise:

Cookie-cutting made even easier! A pliable plastic glass or cup does the job and the slightest squeeze frees the dough, but remember no squeezing until the cookie is over the cookie sheet.

A Friend

Dear Heloise:

I like to prepare my dinner early in the day and have the kitchen cleaned up before the guests arrive.

A tossed green salad was my hang-up because I thought it always had to be done at the last minute.

I've discovered that I can tear my greens add sliced cucumber, celery, onions, radishes . . . put everything in the salad bowl, cover with a paper towel and put a large plate on top.

Here's the trick . . . turn upside down and refrigerate until just before serving.

Then all you have to do is add your dressing and serve! The greens are crisp, having well drained onto the paper towel. (I add ripe tomatoes when I toss the salad, but have them peeled earlier and place them in salad whole.)

Kannie French

---

LETTER OF LAUGHTER

Dear Heloise:

I was brushing my hair in front of the mirror when I thought! "My, you look like an old woman in her fifties". . and then I realized, I was!

Frances Gould

Dear Heloise:

Have read your hints for many years (even before I married) and one of them, at least five or six years ago, was how to clean a baby's highchair.

Put the chair under a hot shower for five or ten minutes, then just wipe off the excess water and soil.

I used this method when my two girls were of highchair age.

The other day I told a girl friend of mine this little trick, she looked at me as if I were crazy. But she tried it and loved the results.

I use this method to clean quite a few other things, such as tricycles, potty chairs and toys that need an occasional scrub. It sure beats all that hand work.

Increased sales reflect savings bond popularity

Sales of Series E and H savings bonds continue to grow despite stiff competition from other types of savings programs Series E sales for September hit a 27-year national high of $452 million while Series H reached $20 million, a 31 per cent gain over a year ago

In Outagamie, E and H sales grew to $107,518 for September and reached $1,404,291 for the first nine months of this year, according to Harold Adams, county bond sales chairman

Other chairmen reported September and nine month sales totals of $189,082 and $1,713,657, respectively, in Winnebago, $137,624 and $2,086,759 in Brown, and $24,759 and $261,350 in Calumet

Most bond sales in the region come through payroll deduction or direct purchase at financial institutions

Total bond sales nationally set a 20 year record for the month of September and exceeded redemptions, at cost price, for the 24th consecutive month

Exchange of Series E for new Series H bonds were $26 million for September, up 17 per cent September redemptions at cost came to $358 million

Holdings of E and H bonds reached $56 7 billion, about $241 million over the last month With the addition of Freedom Shares — withdrawn from sale on July 1, 1970 — holdings reached $57 2 billion, another record high

Adams said the success of bond sales could be traced in part to the security the bond provides "Any instrument that is backed by the full faith and credit of the United States is inherently safe financially," he said

7,700 cancer deaths estimated for Wisconsin

MADISON, Wis (AP) — About 7,700 Wisconsinites will die of cancer next year, the American Cancer Society estimates

The New York based group, in a booklet "Cancer Facts and Figures," also estimates that 15,000 new cases of cancer will occur among Wisconsin residents in 1973

It called the figures a rough guide based on calculations distributing anticipated cases by state

The estimated cancer death rate for 1973 is 165 per 100 000 of population nationally and 167 per 100,000 in Wisconsin the society said

According to the estimates, 21 states will have higher cancer death rates than Wisconsin in 1973

The highest number of Wisconsin cancer deaths is expected among people with lung, intestinal or breast cancer, the society said

Those and skin cancer are the types expected to appear most frequently in Wisconsin

The group estimated there would be 350,000 deaths and 665,000 new cases of cancer in the nation next year It said lung cancer would be the greatest killer in 1973 and the highest number of new cases would involve skin cancer

Task force backs service districts

BY CLIFF MILLER
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

OSHKOSH — The state task force trying to draw a blueprint for restructuring local government wore out pencils and patience Friday but made little headway toward its goal of drafting its final report by Sunday

The major achievement was agreement on a scheme for creating urban services districts where a single county includes an urban area sprawling over several municipal boundaries. But the task force quit just before midnight and left until this morning a discussion on how to finance services in the districts

The committee hopes before the end of the year to hand Gov Patrick Lucey a report proposing reforms under five main headings basic government structure at the local level, accountability of local officials, metropolitan finance, property tax administration and state regulation of local government, and nine "functional" areas, including economic development, land use and development, environmental quality, transportation, housing, health, welfare, education and public safety

The committee ordered the section on state regulations redrafted to include strong advice to give the Department of Local Affairs and Development (DLAD) sufficient finances and support to do the job of assisting local governments which the legislature has assigned it.

A subcommittee had declared the state lacks a uniform policy toward municipalities, but task force members found statutes spell out a policy which they said the DLAD has failed to carry out, largely for lack of funds

The law enforcement portion of the section on public safety is expected to generate protracted debate Among its provisions is a suggestion to give local elected officials more control over police departments

The only major section of the list given preliminary approval as presented by a subcommittee was the report on welfare It recommends abolishing the unit system of dispensing relief by single municipalities and turning the responsibility over to the state, with financing also shifted entirely to the state and federal level

But to preserve closeness of contact between administrators and communities, the report recommends decentralizing state welfare administration and creating neighborhood service centers

The section on environmental quality received approval in most parts but committee members had reservations about a few There was support for more state aid aimed at encouraging regional water pollution abatement facilities, pollution control on a watershed basis, and linking extensions of new sewer service with comprehensive development plans, to shape orderly community growth patterns

There also was agreement on the need for metropolitan area health planning agencies, but members questioned whether a companion proposal to establish neighborhood health centers would conflict with the first recommendation

There also was agreement on significant individual recommendations contained inside larger subcommittee reports. For example, the task force agreed that the legislature should make it mandatory for counties in the state's federally designated metropolitan areas, and all other counties with population of 50,000 or more, to have an elected county executive The office is now an optional

But there was disagreement whether a recommended 5-year deadline for compliance allows enough time

There also was widespread agreement that the state constitutional provision that prohibits the state from spending money on "internal improvements" at the municipal level should be either amended or repealed Subcommittees have recommended amendment, to permit state aid to local government for housing and mass transit systems

Otto Feste, former mayor of Madison, offered the formula that was approved to have counties form urban services districts, to provide such services as police and fire protection and waste disposal on a metropolitan basis, rather than by adjoining units of government

His proposal's basic difference from the similar scheme offered by a subcommittee is that Festge eliminated a requirement for the urban portions of unincorporated towns either to incorporate or to merge with adjoining cities or villages

Festge submitted his proposal after the task force rejected the second alternative offered by the subcommittee, to allow single-purpose service districts The remaining alternative, and Festge's modification of it, provide for a variety of services dispensed by the same district, which would be governed only by those county board supervisors representing citizens within the urban part of the county.

The committee haggled nearly three hours over the details before approving the Festge plan with some modifications, while rejecting others The action deals only with the methods of creating the districts, which would be by county board resolution, petition by two or more municipalities or citizen petition.

Gilbert Church, task force chairman, was criticized for his handling of the marathon session as it dragged into the night Mrs Betty Cooper of Waukesha complained that he failed to recognize her so she could comment during debate on the Festge proposal "If you want to make a comment here you have to interrupt," she said Church apologized and pleaded the late hour, but she said the problem had begun earlier

During an executive committee meeting afterwards to set today's agenda, Arthur Saltzstein of Milwaukee suggested that Church should turn over the chairmanship temporarily to another member when he wished to enter the debate Church made some of the motions on the Festge proposal, and Saltzstein said the chairman should be neutral and objective Church said he was "properly chastized"

There also was private grousing among some of the members who felt the pace should have been quicker The executive committee admitted after Friday's session that hope to conclude the effort by tonight looked dim and a Sunday meeting likely

NM housing groups extend joint venture

BY DOUG KOPLIEN
Post Crescent staff writer

NEENAH-MENASHA — The housing authorities of the two cities have decided to join forces in retaining a real estate agent to acquire options for about 40 sites to locate low-income family housing which has been approved by the federal Housing and Urban Development agency (HUD).

Early this month, HUD, in an unprecedented move, approved 120 public housing units to be split eventually between Neenah and Menasha

Previously the authorities had decided to pass resolutions agreeing to cooperate in a public housing venture since individual applications had not received much attention

Now, in addition to the cooperative venture, the authorities, of Friday, agreed to retain the same agent to find and get options of the sites for the low-income family units

John Westgor, Neenah Housing Authority chairman, said today, that the two had agreed to retain the same agent at a meeting Friday afternoon Earlier in the week, Gerald Wagner, Menasha authority chairman, had appointed a committee of two to work with Neenah in finding an agent to put together the sites

According to HUD's approval the 120 units are split down the middle with each authority getting approval to build 30 units to house the elderly and 30 units for low income family

Although the projects will be constructed individually in each city, the authorities are planning to work as a single entity with the cooperative effort extending to the same architectural consultant, turnkey developer and executive director to administer the projects after completion.

To circumvent a lack of legislative authority, the two groups have formed a Neenah-Menasha housing committee to carry out the joint project until the Wisconsin legislature passes a bill (to be introduced during the coming session) allowing housing authorities to combine

With HUD approval in hand, the authorities have launched a crash program to get the developments underway While the real estate agent is seeking the scattered sites for family housing, there's a search on to pick out appropriate sites for the elderly projects

Sites, plus a total project description is scheduled to be completed and ready to be distributed to potential developers by mid-December By early January, the proposals are supposed to be submitted to NIKA, the Madison consulting firm which has been retained by both authorities to handle the detail work

A developer will be selected sometime in February and construction will tentatively start by spring

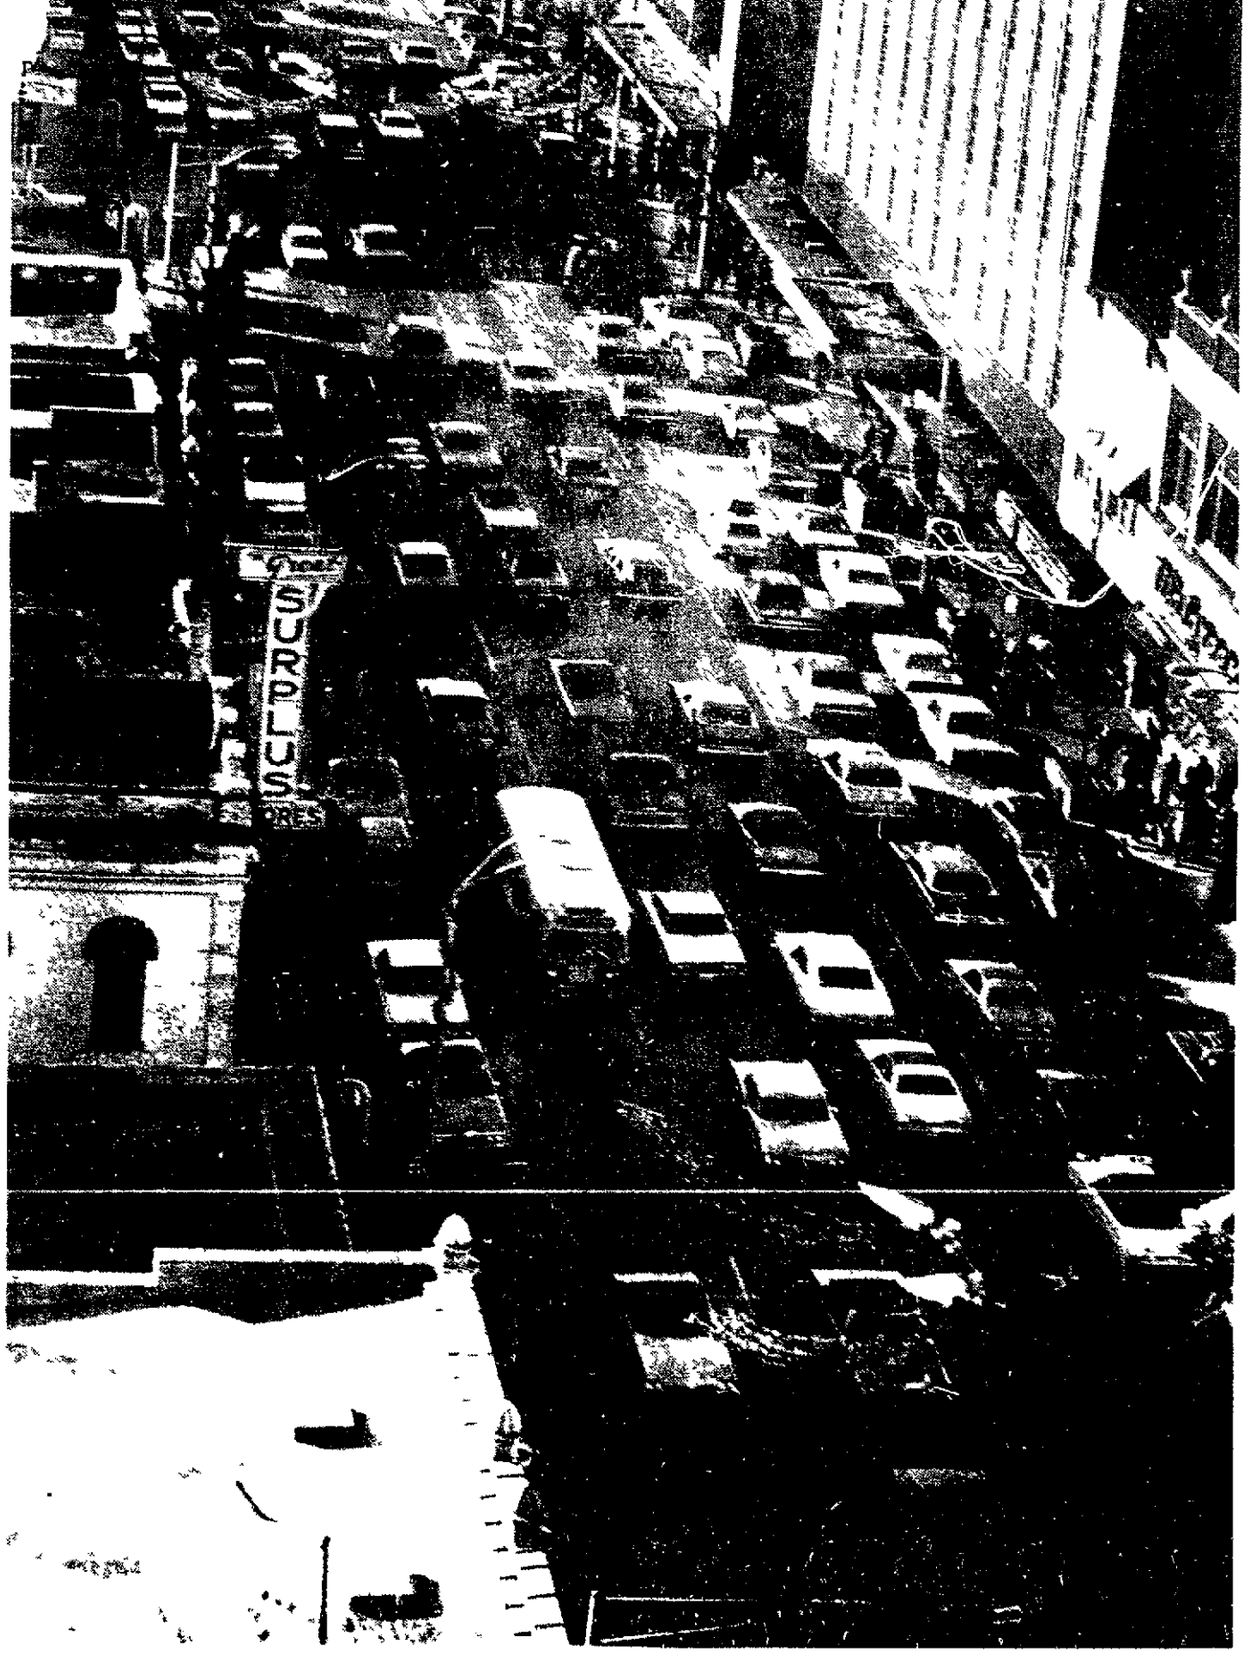

HUD is expected to watch the Neenah-Menasha progress quite closely since this is the first time that separate authorities have been put together for administrative purposes

Sometime within the next couple of weeks, the preliminary loans (about $12,000 for each city) are expected to come through to handle the initial costs of program development

Mormons outline welfare program

SALT LAKE CITY (AP) -- Responding to criticism that it is not carrying a fair share of the tax burden, the Mormon Church said today it spent $17.7 million aiding the poor, the needy and the sick in the past 12 months under its own welfare program.

It was the first time the 3-million member Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints had released a financial report on the program, which began in 1936.

Efforts to tax more church property, including scores of welfare farms which produce goods for the needy with voluntary labor, have begun in Washington, Idaho, Arizona and Utah.

The church lists 478 welfare projects throughout the United States where members produce and process 126 items ranging from meat to shoe polish.

Members counseled

Members are counseled to seek church welfare, which requires work contributions, rather than state welfare.

Junior Wright Child, managing director of the LDS Welfare Program, said the money spent by the church is money saved to government welfare programs.

The latest tax action has been in the shadow of church headquarters.

The Salt Lake County commission overruled the county assessor, who had added hundreds of previously exempt church parcels to the tax rolls. But the assessor, Earl M. Baker, said Friday he is sending out tax notices on the property anyway.

"It doesn't make any difference whether the produce from welfare farms is burned, eaten or given away," Baker said. "The point is that if the farm produces, it's taxable."

Politicians involved

"Because it's an election year, politicians seem to be looking for more revenue and funds and this seems to be one area where they can get them--from tax-exempt properties," Child said.

The $87,616 tax assessment on welfare-related property in Salt Lake County is insignificant when compared to $2,098,514 the church gave to its welfare program, he said.

Cash to operate the program comes from fast offerings and general church funds. The report said $8,635,000 was donated in the past year by members who skip a day's meals each month and give what the meals would cost.

Another $5,487,800 came from the church funds. The remainder of the total $17.7 million was listed as the dollar value of church-produced commodities.

Child said hundreds of those who are helped are not members of the Church.

Catholic Relief Services sets Thanksgiving Clothing drive

GREEN BAY — The 1972 Catholic Relief Services' Thanksgiving clothing collection for the needy overseas will be conducted in the Green Bay Diocese during the week of Nov. 26.

The campaign this year is placing special emphasis on the need for lightweight clothing, men's trousers, infant wear, bedding materials, and piece goods and remnants.

Clothing and other garments may be brought to all Catholic churches throughout the area during this week, and, after processing by Catholic Relief Services, the materials will be shipped overseas for distribution to the impoverished in some 70 countries.

Substantial portions of the total national collection will be used for victims of disasters and emergencies, such as the recent floods in the Philippine Islands and in Korea, and for the victims in Bangladesh.

Last year's collection in the Green Bay Diocese netted a total of 187,000 pounds of clothing, as part of the more than 15 million pounds collected nationally by Catholic Relief Services.

Majority of Angelican Synod backs ordination of women

LONDON — Women should be qualified for ordination as Anglican priests, the majority of those attending the Church of England synod meeting here have indicated.

The synod, consisting of about 30 Anglican bishops meeting with 200 of its priests and elected representatives of the laity, voted to ask the British Parliament to give it the power to order its own doctrines and worshippers.

Ever since the 1500's, when Henry VIII broke with Rome, Parliament has had the final say on Anglican liturgy. The synod held back, however, from asking for total control over the church's patterns of worship. It proposed leaving Parliament with residual control over the venerable Book of Common Prayers which dates from 1662.

The Church of England has recently become more anxious for greater independence and self-government. An official commission proposed in 1970 that Parliament's control over the church be sharply curtailed, while at the same time preserving the historic relationship between the Church and the monarchy.

But the ordination of women is without question the synod's major and most difficult issue. The sessions have been punctuated with numerous calls for calm discussion of this question and pleas not to confuse women's ordination with women's lib.

Although a majority of the synod appears to favor ordination of women, the issue is a sharply controversial one.

Prebendary (honorary canon) Henry Cooper said that the ministry was Christ's gift to the church and he certainly chose no women. "I could not serve . . . in the province of Canterbury if the archbishop started ordaining women, which I am sure he will not. I should have to resign my holy orders," he said.

Bishop Leslie Brown, of St. Edmundsbury and Ipswich became the first of many in favor of opening the doors to women. He emphasized that the reason for ordaining must be theological — because the synod members believe that God is giving them insights into the meaning of the new humanity in Christ. It would be wrong to and insulting to ordain women only because they could not get enough men, he said.

Capuchins set up justice-peace office

MILWAUKEE — The Midwest Capuchins, who work in Wisconsin, Michigan, Indiana, Illinois, Minnesota, Montana and Central America, have established an Office of World Justice and Peace here.

The Rev. Dale Olen, OFM Cap., is the director. He was ordained in 1967 and received his Ph.D. in social psychology from the University of Kansas this year.

Dale Olen

Working with him on the staff will be the Rev. Kenneth Reinhart and the Rev. Bryan O'Rourke, Brothers Terrence Knaffla and Kenneth Rolling, all members of the Capuchin Order, as well and the Rev. Robert Dundon, a Jesuit.

Also on the staff as a part-time research assistant is Judy Brodd, who holds a master's degree in urban studies from the University of Wisconsin-Milwaukee.

According to Olen, the primary purpose of the Office will be education that leads to action in matters of justice and peace on the local, national and international level. "Our major concern is to relate theology to the issues of our day in such a way that people will respond to these issues with actions based on true Christian principles," he said.

Staff members are involved in establishing contact and cooperative efforts with other interested religious communities and groups through their religious outreach program. The office is also involved in a program to educate the Capuchins in the Midwest in urgent matters regarding current issues. Through them, they hope to reach the public they serve in their various apostolates. They are also creating and will implement a world justice and peace education program for the Archdiocese of Milwaukee.

Members of the staff will be available to interested organizations to speak on the general theme of justice and peace or to help groups examine specific issues of particular interest to them.

Unity predicted for 2 churches

LONDON (AP) — Unity between the Anglican and Roman Catholic churches is virtually certain, Jan Cardinal Willebrands, president of the Vatican Secretariat for Promoting Christian Unity, told a news conference today.

"I won't say it will be in this generation or within the next, but it's a certainty if all men are obedient to God and to their duties," he said.

The cardinal, who Wednesday was the first Roman Catholic to celebrate Mass in the Chapel of Lambeth Palace since the Reformation, has spent the past two days in talks with the Archbishop of Canterbury, Dr. Michael Ramsey. Lambeth Palace is the London residence of the head of the Anglican Church.

"The Cardinal made it clear that unity did not mean absorption," the Archbishop said today. "Unity without absorption: that is the phrase which has done much to dispel anxiety and fears.

It's horses vs. hunters in Grand Chute

Mary-Annette Baumgarten, Kaukauna, and Marie Fiscella, Appleton, are fearful for the lives of their horses. And they say they will ask the Town of Grand Chute Board to do something about protecting them.

The two young women own horses which are kept in the stables at the Edgewood Ranch, 1701 W. Edgewood Drive, Appleton. They claim that five horses have been shot in the area in the past two years, including Miss Fiscella's Thursday.

They are very angry with deer hunters who they claim arecareless and with area law enforcement officials who they claim have shown no sincere interest in their concern.

"We really love our horses, and they're getting shot up right in front of us," Marie said.

They are especially angry at the Town of Grand Chute officers who investigated the alleged shooting of the ear of Marie's horse Thursday afternoon. He sympathized more with the deer hunters who were in the area than those concerned about the horse, she said.

John Arft, Grand Chute constable, said he had talked to the officer who told him he didn't believe the horse had been shot but rather had been bitten or cut by a barbed wire fence. A shotgun slug would have done more damage, Arft said.

He said the women and the owners of the ranch, Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Schnur, probably are still jumpy after the shooting of a pony on the ranch about 4 a.m. Oct. 30.

The pony was shot in the eye, and the bullet lodged in his sinuses, Miss Baumgarten said. He's blind in both eyes but may regain his sight in one eye, she quoted a veterinarian as saying.

That morning the other horses were spooked by the shot and broke through a fence, she related. The Outagamie County officers helped herd them back but never continued the investigation, she claimed

Both women agreed there was little the enforcement authorities could do but they still were angry for what they considered the lack of concern.

Miss Baumgarten said she and Miss Fiscella plan to take their case to the town board. They will ask the board to extend the no-firearms restriction now in effect in the town south of U.S. 41 to north of 41 in the residential area, inlcuding around the Edgewood Ranch.

They believe the area has developed enough residentially in the past few years to justify the extension. They said the Edgewood Ranch is three-quarters of a mile north of 41 on County Trunk JJ.

Arft said past attempts to restrict firearms use north of 41 have been voted down by the town board which doesn't believe the danger is that great. He said he believed there were some residential areas north of 41 where the restriction probably should be in effect but not around the Edgewood Ranch.

The two women said a bay window of one of the residences near the ranch was shot out and a nearby farmer's heifer shot and killed last year.

State asked to view jail

BY DON CASTONIA
Post-Crescent staff writer

The state Department of Social Services and its Division of Corrections will be asked to issue a public approval of the juvenile detention facilities in the new Outagamie County jail.

Outagamie Executive Alvin Woehler and Sheriff Calvin Spice were formulating a letter Friday to be sent to Wilbur Schmidt, secretary of the Department of Social Services, asking the action in the wake of criticism of the yet-unused facilities by the county Social Services Department and by County Judge R. Thomas Cane.

Spice was particularly upset with criticism voiced by James Stampp, director of the county Department of Social Services, who admitted he had not personally inspected the new facilities, but had drawn his conclusions from reports from social workers.

"It wouldn't take him two minutes to look at them," Spice said. "And he wouldn't even have to go outside to get there." Stampp's office is in the courthouse annex to which the new jail building is attached.

Spice said the state has approved the plans for the facility and inspected "every nook and cranny" during construction.

Woehler charged that the attitude expressed by the social services department was another example of "changing philosophy overnight." He said he wanted someone from the state to come in and "tell us what their philosophy is."

He also was critical of the timing of a proposal made by Cane that a juvenile facility outside the jail might be needed. "We just passed the budget last week and already they're talking of new, costly programs," the executive said.

Spice said the juvenile facilities were not designed for the first offender or someone who had committed just a minor offense. "It's for the habitual offender," the sheriff said. He said few juveniles are put in detention for more than a few hours. "Even those picked up in the act of a burglary get released to their parents," he said.

He added that about the only time a juvenile is kept in detention more than a day is when one is picked up on a Friday night and the juvenile court intake worker determines that he should be held in detention until appearing in court on Monday.

A public open house at the new jail facility is being planned for the third week in December before the building goes into use. Prisoners are expected to be transferred from the old jail about Jan. 1.

Spice and Woehler were responding to an article which appeared in The Post-Crescent on Thursday.

Air Wisconsin to eye state air service study

Air Wisconsin, Inc., and other state air commuters may be encouraged to serve certain northern Wisconsin cities, after the State Division of Aeronautics completes its analysis of the reasons for success and failure of past service to these cities.

The study, which includes Clintonville in northeastern Waupaca County, is aimed at providing a studied approach to determine whether a city can support a carrier, said James W. Ash, division director of the bureau of aviation operations.

"The study itself is long overdue," he said Wednesday. "The commuter air carriers have been growing very haphazardly over the years. They have been expanding mainly on an intuitive basis."

Clintonville had been served by Mid State Air Commuter, central Wisconsin commuter, from the fall of 1966 to late 1967. Ash said the short service time is not uncommon among commuters because of lack of proper marketing analysis.

Mid-State had come into the city after North Central Airlines, a second level airline pulled out in February, 1966.

Aeronautics division surveyors will be in Clintonville next week, talking to city officials, business people, travel bureau representatives and others. They will try to determine, for example, if the nearness of Green Bay hurts the chances for commuter success in Clintonville.

"We're trying to determine the factors that govern success or failure," Ash said.

He said the division was puzzled why some cities, such as Hayward (served by Mid-State), have high passenger levels while Clintonville and certain other cities don't.

The other cities include Ashland, Eagle River, Minocqua-Woodruff, Stevens Point, Wausau and Wisconsin Rapids.

Ash said the future economic health of northern Wisconsin cities depended to a large degree on whether they have satisfactory air service. He said he hoped the results of the survey would show the air commuters which cities could be served profitably.

He surmised that Air Wisconsin and Mid-State would be the most logical two of the state's five air commuters to serve northern cities because of their base location. Mid-State, which already serves some northern cities, probably would be the most likely to be interested in other northern stops, he said.

Air Wisconsin formerly stopped at Wausau on Minneapolis-St. Paul, Minn., trips but now stops at the Central Wisconsin Airport near Mosinee.

The state study is expected to be completed by May 1, 1973.

Combined Locks to get tax cut

COMBINED LOCKS — The proposed village budget for 1973 follows a pattern set by other local municipalities this fall: Because of the federal revenue sharing windfall, a tax cut has been achieved despite higher government spending.

Officials here are planning to spend $1,501,251 in 1973, an increase of $126,508 over the 1972 budget. At the same time, the property tax levy will decrease $10,469, to $1,074,682.

The lower levy will be supported by a tax base that grew $829,400 during 1972, dropping the tax rate $2 for next year. A $1 increase in the state tax credit pulls the net tax rate down to $44.42 per $1,000 of assessed value in 1973, 13 less than the rate this year.

Significantly, the $44.42 rate proposed for 1973 is $5.04 less than the tax charged in 1971, giving property owners a tax cut for the second year in a row. Property in Combined Locks is assessed at about 55 per cent of true value, so the owner of a $20,000 home would pay approximately $488 in 1973, compared to $544 in 1971.

The village is also debt free, other than its obligations to the Kimberly school district. Village President Marvin Schumacher said, "We believe in the philosophy of pay as you go as much as possible," — and this means that major capital improvements and land purchases have been included in yearly budgets, instead of being financed with bond issues.

Some of the capital outlays aren't spent in the budget year, so these amounts carry over to the next budget, and this year the surplus has been set at $105,000, and listed under miscellaneous receipts.

Of the $105,000 surpulus from 1972, $28,000 is from federal revenue sharing, and the rest is from funds budgeted for park development this year, but not spent. The village's share of federal revenue in 1973 adds another $78,000 to budget receipts.

The Kimberly school district, which has lowered taxes for the last four years, also contributes to the village's stable budgeting. Total school taxes (which include vocational district and utility district levies) will be $710,126 in 1973, compared to $732,000 last year and $796,000 in 1971.

A breakdown of projected spending shows that the public works budget will more than double the 1972 level, increasing from $97,700 to $232,100. The big increase is caused by spending for the regional sewage system that will connect Combined Locks with a new treatment plant in Kaukauna.

A total of $48,000 has been budgeted as the village's share of the design phase of the regional system, and another $69,000 has been budgeted for interceptor sewers that will link the village, part of Kimberly, and Darboy, to the main line.

Park development has been given high priority again. In the parks and playgrounds budget account, $13,250 is set aside for development of Van Zeeland Park, $7,000 for the new (Wallace Street) park, and $15,000 for Blaese Park.

In the buildings and grounds account, $30,000 is designated for the purchase of additional ravine land, as part of the village's five-year park plan.

Other spending is $10,340 for the police and fire departments; $2,000 for administration; $21,500 for insurance, welfare and auditing expenses; $148,868 for salaries of municipal employes and officials; and $265,277 for general government expenses. The total buildings and grounds budget is $79,700; the total parks budget is $31,340.

Federal, state funding of welfare costs proposed

OSHKOSH, Wis. (AP) — Funding public welfare costs entirely with state and federal money was recommended Friday by the Citizen's Study Committee on Metropolitan Problems.

The 21-member panel, which began a review of the first draft of its final report to Gov. Patrick Lucey, described the present method of financing welfare as unfair.

Milwaukee County taxpayers paid more than $34 per capita in property taxes last year as their share of welfare costs, the committee pointed out, while Waukesha County taxpayers paid $9.50 and Ozaukee County taxpayers $6.66.

Full state responsibility for administering the entire welfare system was called for as a long range solution by the panel, while an immediate change in state law was urged to take administration of the general assistance program away from town, village and city governments and give it to counties.

Also endorsed was establishment of neighborhood service centers to decentralize the welfare system.

The task force, in another area, called for a change in state law which would allow creation of county housing authorities with power to provide housing without any veto by municipalities. And it urged repeal of a state constitutional barrier against state purchase and sale of land for housing construction.

Also recommended by the panel were more state funds for air and water pollution control, particularly to encourage construction of regional control facilities.

Nancy Barkla appointed as UW regent

MADISON, Wis. (AP) — Gov. Patrick J. Lucey Friday appointed Nancy Barkla of River Falls to succeed Eugene W. Murphy on the University of Wisconsin Board of Regents.

Murphy, who served as a regent of the Wisconsin State University system and the UW for 21 years, resigned to devote more time to his business activities. He is associated with Gateway Transportation Co. of La Crosse.

Mrs. Barkla, a practicing attorney, has served on the personal staff of Sen. Wiliam Proxmire, D-Wis. from 1957 to 1964 and as confidential assistant to Postmaster General John Gronouski in 1964.

Mrs. Barkla also served on the Governor's Commission on the Status of Women.

Lucey said he accepted Murphy's resignation "with a great deal of regret" and called Murphy "a devoted advocate of excellence in our higher education system."

Mrs. Barkla is a graduate of Marquette University and the University of Wisconsin Law School

Hospital directors picked at Clintonville

CLINTONVILLE — Five directors were elected for three year terms Monday night at the annual meeting of the Clintonville Community Hospital Association.

Harland Kirchner and Richard Allen were elected to succeed C. C. Gehrt and Eric Desens, whose terms expired; and re-elected were Burr E. Tolles, W. Lyle Harrison and Dr. Roger Wilson.

At the board of directors meeting following the annual meeting, officers re-elected were Don Heinisch, president; F. H. Schafer, vice president; and Harrison, treasurer. Everett Pierre was elected secretary to succeed Tolles.

Woman dies in accident at Oshkosh

The deaths of five persons, including a 21-year-old Oshkosh woman Friday, brought the state's highway toll for the Thanksgiving weekend to 14 and raised the 1972 count to 1,038, six more than on this date one year ago.

Sherry C. Siebenhaar, 7125 Waupun Road, Oshkosh, died at Mercy Medical Center at 1:35 p.m. Friday from head injuries she received in a single-car accident on U.S. 41 at the U.S. 45 overpass about 8:20 a.m.

Winnebago County police said her car was southbound in the passing lane when it apparently skidded on the frosty pavement, went into the median, rolled over several times and landed on its top in the northbound lane.

William Frerichs, 17, and Randy Claflin, 18, both of Two Rivers, were killed when their car left Door County Trunk C about one-quarter mile west of Sturgeon Bay and crashed into some trees late Friday.

Theodore Hektner, 7, of rural Menomonie, and Elwood Dahl, 52, of rural Elk Mound, were killed in a two-car collision 10 miles west of Eau Claire at the intersection of Dunn County Trunks C and H.

Bonduel names five outstanding teen-agers

BONDUEL — Five students have been selected as outstanding teen agers, and will be listed in the annual Outstanding Teenagers of America awards volume.

They are Joel Luepke, route 2, Bonduel; James Stoltenow, Cecil; Monica Juds, Cecil; Carol Graf, Bonduel; and Linda Bartelt, route 1, Bonduel.

Criteria for selection, according to Donald L. Reinke, principal, includes demonstrated leadership ability, unusual talents, excellent academic achievement and community service.

More control proposed by officials over police

OSHKOSH, Wis. (AP) — A citizens' study group recommended Friday that state law should be changed eventually to permit direct control by elected officials over law enforcement policies.

The proposal was one of several calling for greater control of police by elected authorities.

The recommendations came from the Public Safety Subcommittee of the Citizens Study Committee on Metropolitan Problems. The full committee was meeting Friday and Saturday to finish its final report for Gov. Patrick J. Lucey.

The subcommittee said there should be an immediate change in the state law that gives police chiefs authority to regulate their departments and their rules so as to further strengthen the hand of elected officials.

It called for repeal of the state law requiring police and fire commissions to be appointed to indefinite terms.

The subcommittee said it is hard for the public to learn how police decisions are made and by whom, caused by a lack of control of municipal officials, the absence of formal policies within police departments and the laws which grant autonomy to police administrators.

Hospital adds to city's economy

CLINTONVILLE — The employes of the Clintonville Community Hospital contributed well over a half million dollars to the economic growth of the city in 1972, Administrator R.J. Platte reported to members of the hospital association at their annual meeting this week.

The hospital ranks number two in the city as an employer and will continue to grow upon completion of the medical complex, Platte said.

In keeping with the hospital policy of further education in the field of health, the new classroom was opened this year and classes for 19 nursing assistants were conducted All graduated and were presented certificates in conjunction with the Fox Valley Technical Institute. Two expectant mothers' classes plus in-service instructions were directed by Mrs. Ada Kersten, R.N.

The hospital is entering its third year in a building project that originally was scheduled for completion a long time ago. Because of weather conditions and strikes, it has been delayed beyond the completion date.

The following statistics show the hospital's contribution to the economic growth to the city through its employes:

For the period from Oct. 1, 1971, to Sept. 30, 1972, salaries to employes were $458,638 and salaries to physicians $71,448, for toatl of $529,856. The percentages of salaries to total expenses of $919,393 was 57.7 per cent.

There were 12,084 medical and surgical patient days and 673 obstetrical patient days for 12,757 total patient days. There were 559 nursery days.

The average length of stay for medical and surgical was 5.8 days; for obstetrical, 3.7 days, and for nursery, 3.4 days.

During the year, 21,779 laboratory tests were done. 4,287 X-rays, 975 E.K.G. procedures, 1,297 emergency room visits; 879 physical therapy, and 546 anesthesia.

Benegits paid to employes (including hospital part of Social Security, health insurance, pension insurance, unemployment compensation, etc.) amounted to $41,187. There are 115 full and part-time employees on the staff.

The net revenue from patients amounted to $967,373 and other revenue was $15,650 for total of $982,923.

Cost of operating the hospital per day during this fiscal year was $72, compared to $59 the last fiscal year for an increase of 18 per cent.

Expenses which contribute to the high increase in the cost of operating a hospital, according to Platte, include greater depreciation, interest, unemployment compensation insurance, more elevators and elevator contracts, central air conditioning, higher utility costs because of doubled square footage, a 5.5 per cent increase in all employe salaries and fringe benefits, general increase in food and all supplies purchased by the hospital, and repayment to the city of $150,000 annually.

"As you can see," Platte said, "among the diverse purposes of the hospital, its role as a haven for the sick and injured is but one facet of its operation - although it remains its most important function."

Car teeters and totters on the bridge brink

OSHKOSH — A freak accident on the Oregon Street bridge about 7:30 a.m., Friday left the car driver involved thankful it wasn't a lot worse.

Johnston M. Ndavu, 30, 1041 Eastman St., was southbound on the frosty bridge when his car skidded over the sidewalk and crashed through the bridge railing, leaving the vehicle teetering on the edge of the bridge. Witnesses helped Ndavu to safety, but a section of bridge railing splashed into the river below.

THE Post-Crescent

Our reliance on foreign oil

Senator Henry Jackson has announced that the Senate Interior Committee which he heads will hold hearings next month on national security implications of oil and gas imports.

The senator is especially perturbed about the proposal to import considerable quantities of natural gas from the Soviet Union. He points out that "East Coast states already depend upon overseas sources for 90 per cent of their fuel oil and the latest projections show at least half of all our oil supplies coming from abroad by 1980." The arrangement with the Soviet Union, warns Jackson, "is remarkable in that the gas distributors would have to pay several times as much to foreign sources as the Federal Power Commission permits them to pay domestic producers."

Oil is and has been for some decades a prime mover in the political relations of many nations. Obviously it was influential in British and French development of the Middle East and later demands for independence or at least a larger cut of the take by the people who live there. More recently oil finds in Latin America have encouraged North Americans to take a new look at our neighbors with the wish that things might have been handled differently in the past. Peru nationalized without compensation the American owned International Petroleum Company four years ago. Washington may grumble but more than twenty internationally owned oil companies have been dickering with the state owned Peruvian oil monopoly. New finds in the Peruvian Andes are estimated to be much more vast than the strikes in Ecuador. Latin American countries which have nationalized oil industries are obviously in a fine position to drive hard bargains.

But the trouble is that it is quite likely that the wells will eventually dry up and it won't matter much whether the United States pays a higher price to Algerians than to Texans. The known oil reserves are expected to be used up at the present rate of consumption by at least the middle of the next century or less than eighty years from now. New sources of energy must be found.

But it is the immediate present and near future with which Senator Jackson's committee is currently concerned. The worries about oil supplies, the possible reliance upon foreign countries, the political insecurity in some of them, are very real. This accounts for some of the stress upon the need to develop Alaskan oil fields and a deaf ear to conservationist warnings, the bland approach of some oil companies to the dangers of pollution. Since President Nixon apparently did not approve of changes in the oil import policies recommended by his own Cabinet task force, the hearings before the Senate committee should prove interesting.

Unrest in Thailand

It was about a year ago that Field Marshal Thanom Kittakachorn declared martial law in Thailand. Conditions haven't changed very much in that lovely and relatively healthy land. Absolute control of the government has been a way of life for Thais for most of their history.

Thailand used to have an absolute monarchy in which the king was supreme and divine. Life was probably much as it has been in other absolute monarchies, dependent upon the character of the monarch, from the sentimental idyll of The King and I to depravity by whim. When the monarchy was overthrown in 1932, the king continued to retain the aura of his office if not the power. The king and queen today are attractive, smart enough to keep quiet and to contribute their royal presence to the maintenance of law and order.

The latter has become more difficult and it was one of the reasons for martial law. Terrorism was on the upswing, especially in the more remote areas, and some of it could be charged to Communist agitation. Other crimes of violence were up and in the last year 29 people have been executed by firing squads for crimes like rape and gun running — but the statistics of crime continue to grow. The presence of the United States is strongly felt through the rest and recreation leaves of our Southeast Asia based military although the numbers are fewer. Within the country there are doubts about Thailand's role in Vietnam, especially now with the American withdrawal. Thailand remains the principal location of air bases for U.S. bombing raids of North Vietnam.

It isn't clear yet whether the stricter regime will make inroads of communism more or less likely. Thanon seized control also because of the hemming and hawing of parliament which was holding up what he felt to be necessary economic reforms. Rice exports have risen in the last year and the entire financial picture appears brighter. Communist or North Vietnamese appeals in this sector are not likely to find much success.

But politically, rigid controls can lead to approval of national liberation armies even though their success will mean more rigid controls. Left alone, the people of Thailand might do well and stay happy and well fed on the same type of authoritarian government they have had for centuries. But facing the joint propaganda of communism and democracy, life may not be so calm.

How the Bible looks on women

A recent conference in Green Bay, "Women Alive," stressed the role of the American woman in Christian and Jewish religious organizations. It became obvious from the proceedings that the stereotype of the submissive "help mate" to man has been perpetuated over several centuries.

The Joint Education Development of six Protestant churches has come to the same conclusion. Concerned especially with the curriculum of church schools, JED at a recent meeting in Virginia called for the development of "ministries which enable persons, churches, and church agencies to deal responsibly with sexuality and familiar situations."

Exploring the Biblical role of women, a study found that Old Testament women are often associated not only with "moral weakness" but "sexual wickedness," while New Testament women are mentioned approvingly when they are "passive, obedient, humble, waited and acted upon." They are not church leaders but providers of a clean meeting place. While boys are portrayed as "active, powerful, working in groups, brave, protective of women, adventurous and shaping their environment" women are "waiting, weak, needing help, timid, alone, sick and unhappy." The portrait carries over into family life where mother expresses her love for her family by being out in the kitchen providing "constant service." Only at the teen level is a girl pictured as active, independent and accomplished.

This is much the same as speakers at the Green Bay conference were suggesting. That it has been mirrored in the leadership of most Christian churches and Jewish synagogues until quite recently is obvious. It may have something to do with a lot of so-called "female complaints" of recent years which may be connected with identity search rather than hormonal upsets. Attitudes by and toward women and men can be responsible for everything from a school board hassle to male teen-age belligerence.

It's well past time for the churches to reconsider the points of view they have been fostering over the decades. Men and women both have been responsible as they have acted and reacted to the demands of society and cultural background and growth.

Lucey stealing tax issue from GOP

MADISON — My old friend the retired civil servant was on the telephone with one of his occasional messages. One of the resources of a public affairs reporter is the reservoir of informants who have retired on their annuities from key positions in operating agencies but maintain a keen and expert interest in the services to which they devoted their lives.

"Do you know what's going on there?" he demanded, naming a major department that must be anonymous here. "They have transferred all responsibility to the division chiefs in the field, and they have five men sitting around in the office I used to run with a singel deputy," he asserted angrily.

Elderly do vote

I responsed encouragingly but noncommittally, mentally calculating that this department has had its duties and powers expanded enormously since my friend took his leave 10 years ago, that the standards of performance acknowledged today are perhaps less axacting than three or four decades ago in private employment as well as in the civil service. And in any event, I was curious about where the old timer was heading.

Patience has its rewards

"Well," he said, "Gov. Lucey has made a big hit with his talk about more productivity in the government service, holding the line on payrolls, preparing an austere budget, and saving money that can be used to help cut local property taxes.

"I have had to sell my house in the city (it was a good but not plush home, as I remembered) and we're now living in a little place out in the country," he went on. I thought as I listened that the theme is a familiar one in Madison and elsewhere.

Politicians are slowly beginning to be aware that thousands of their constituents are worrying about whether they can keep their homes and pay their tax bills after they leave a payroll. It may be presumed also that they are aware that men and women of senior years are more likely to vote than the very young, as suggested in the most recent elections.

My old friend is of the Republican persuasion. He intended to telephone members of the new Republican state Senate leadership with a suggestion. He thought it might be a story. I listened more carefully.

"The Republicans are being outpmaneuvered by Lucey on the tax and spending issues," he grumbled. "But they can steal a march on him before the new legislative session begins by declaring that they won't let a legislative pay raise get through the Senate.

Don't need $1,000

"The people are disgusted with reading so often about bigger pay for public employes and public officials. These men don't need another $1,000 a year so badly. If they really do their jobs they will be underpaid at $20,000," he went on, his voice rising with some unkind remarks about many above $20,000 pay levels in obscure civil service places.

I reminded him gently that the legislative pay question has been routed around the legislature, that it can now be put into effect without a roll call of all the members of both houses. The old timer was not impressed.

"Let them announce, all 18 of them, that they won't accept the raise," he countered. "It will get them off to a good start. Otherwise Lucey will get the credit for worrying about the taxpayers."

Yes, George, it is an interesting idea. And it is worth a story in the papers, just in case the senators didn't answer when you called.

Proposed Tunnel Would Link London and Paris

Tunnel under English Channel still alive

BY GRAHAM HEATHCOTE

LONDON (AP) — A 140-year-old scheme to bore a tunnel under the English Channel, linking London and Paris, may become a reality within the next decade.

A recent British-French announcement said the proposed tube would burrow 180 feet deep in the chalk below the channel seabed and run approximately 35 miles from a point between Dover and Folkestone on the English side to Sangatte near Calais on the French side.

U. S. British and French financial houses are putting up money for the project which is expected to cost $896.7 million, informed sources said. The target date for completion of the project is 1980. The rail journey through the tunnel would take 31 minutes and the complete London to Paris train trip 2 hours and 40 minutes, slashing the time of the present boat train by 5 hours.

The British and French transport ministers John Peyton and Robert Galley have signed an agreement with the banking groups, assuring government support for the technical and financial studies of the project. The studies are due to be completed in July 1973 and construction is expected to get underway at that time.

The tunnel would be driven through chalk that is believed to be 75 million years old. Promoters of the project said that geological samples of the channel seabed show that a tunnel would be safe.

The tunnel plans envisage passenger trains running up to 150 miles per hour and linking Britain's chief cities with Paris, Lille, Brussels, Rotterdam, Cologne and Milan.

The tube is expected to attract business to the depressed coal mining and textile mill areas of northern France.

Warnings have been sounded in Britain that the tunnel terminal on that side would cause overpopulation of Southeast England and draw business away from the depressed north. Land prices are already soaring in the Dover terminal sector.

Partial tunnels bored during the 19th century out from the mainland near both Dover and Calais still survive. Information derived from these early borings near Dover in 1880 have been studied by the present engineers.

American engineering experts advised the British in 1969 against building a tunnel-bridge complex over the channel. They expressed belief that a tunnel through the chalk would be the quickest and least costly method.

Youngsters on Point Roberts frequently have dual citizenship. Although part of the State of Washington, Point Roberts is cut off from the mainland by water, and its women usually give birth to their babies at a hospital in Vancouver. When the children reach 21 they can choose to be citizens of either the United States or Canada.

Nixon's judicial flying wedge

Dipping beneath the legalese of dissents and split decisions, a Pennsylvania law professor has compiled statistics proving a most salient political point about the new U.S. Supreme Court: that President Nixon's four appointees — Messrs. Burger, Blackmun, Rehnquist, and Powell — are functioning as a tightly knit judicial flying wedge. With just one more man on their wing, the four Nixon Justices may just turn the nine-man court into a Capitol Hill echo of the White House.

Chief Justice Warren Burger and his longtime friend, Justice Harry Blackmun, have for several years been pegged as the conservative "Minnesota Twins" of the nation's highest court. But in the December issue of Harper's, University of Pennsylvania Professor Paul Bender has produced figures to show that as of mid-1972, the two newest justices, William Rehnquist and Lewis Powell, have joined Burger and Blackmun in forging an extraordinarily cohesive "Nixon Bloc" on the court.

Get swing vote

"Among some 90 decisions," Bender says, "Burger and Powell voted differently on the result in only seven cases, Burger and Rehnquist split in eight and Powell and Rehnquist in nine. The least solid member of the Nixon bloc was Blackmun, who differed with each of the other Nixon appointees in about a dozen of the cases." All in all, the professor argues, "the Nixon Justices win twice as often as they lose," thanks to frequent support from one of the two "swing" justices, White and Stewart. Such is the solidarity of the Nixon bloc on vital issues that one more similarly minded appointee will lock up the decisionmaking process.

Richard M. Nixon is the first President since Warren G. Harding to have had the chance of four Supreme Court appointments in his first term, and he has made the most of them. Warren Burger was wired into Nixon-John Mitchell political planning even before he ascended to the Chief Justiceship, and the President's other three appointees all met strict conservative litmus tests. When the Rehnquist and Powell nominations were still in the mill, several liberal pundits offered the hope that the President would select men of eminent judicial qualifications and — note the caveat — "varying philosophical outlooks." They feared that the President would opt for a conservative flying wedge, and they were right.

Citation of contrary Truman-Eisenhower precedents misses the point because those were more relaxed times. After Franklin D. Roosevelet had spun the Court on its ideological axis, Harry S Truman could afford to elevate Ohio's Republican Senator Harold Burton as one of his choices. The Dwight D. Eisenhower just plain miscalculated. In later years, he lamented his choice of liberal Earl Warren as Chief Justice, and his selection of New Jersey's William Brennan was premised on the false notion that Brennan was the conservative sort of Irish Catholic Democrat.

The FDR parallel

Roosevelt offers the better parallel. His first five court nominees seem more varied in retrospect than they did at first. At the time of their appointments, Rooseveltian Justices Black, Reed, Frankfurter, Douglas, and Murphy were all red-hot New Dealers. They, too, formed an ideological phalanx. And they turned the court around from its previous posture of flying in the face of public opinion when it struck down Roosevelt's economic reforms.

Professor Bender doesn't like the Roosevelt-era analogy, saying that New Deal Justices upheld individual rights while Nixon bloc justices are taking them away. Balderdash. It just depends on whose individual rights one is talking about. How about the rights of individuals to walk down streets now menaced by suspects whose convictions have been set aside because the police forgot to give them F. Lee Bailey's phone number and a pre-arrest chocolate bar? And how about the rights of the majority; Professor Bender is concerned — as were the Big Business judges of the Thirties — with the privileges of a minority fabricated through an extreme construction of the 14th Amendment.

Ten years hence, the Nixon justices will probably be going their separate ways as new issues arise. But for the moment, let's have that five-justice bloc!

100 YEARS AGO
Appleton Crescent, Nov. 23, 1872.

Eight hundred track-layers on the extension of the Winona and St. Peter Railway were snowed in by the great Minnesota storm of the 14th, 100 miles beyond telegraph, with scarce any provisions. The General Superintendent started with a relief train — 4 locomotives, 150 men and 30 days provisions — and the storm still raging was buried, 80 miles short of the sufferers, on Tuesday. Until aid can reach them the sufferers have nothing but horses to eat.

Economic program for Indians revealed

ASHLAND, Wis. (AP) — A Bureau of Indian Affairs official has confirmed the existence of a 10-year economic development plan for 10 Wisconsin tribes which was reported to have been taken from the files of the agency's Washington office.

The acting superintendent of the bureau's Great Lakes Agency, Edmund Manydeeds, commented after the Milwaukee Sentinel quoted "a source" in today's editions as stating that most proposals in a 1964 plan for the northern and central Wisconsin tribes have never been shown to tribal leaders or implemented.

The newspaper quoted its source as stating that most of the documents pertaining to Wisconsin Indians taken from the Washington office during its occupation two weeks ago show that government programs or contracts were detrimental to the state's tribes.

Manydeeds, in confirming that Indian tribes had not been consulted before or after the plan was written, said it was developed during the Kennedy and Johnson administrations and plans for Wisconsin Indian tribes have changed as the federal government has developed new programs and priorities.

"It's a political thing," he said. "After the report was made, I don't think any effort was made to follow up on that."

"We haven't even referred to it since President Nixon was elected."

Some of the proposals in the 10-year plan have been developed and others may be in the next few years, he said, because of somilar priorities in other plans.

The 1964 plan is described as concerning the Bad River, Lac Courte Oreilles, Lac du Flambeau, Oneida, Red Cliff, St. Croix and Stockbridge-Munsee reservations and the Forest County Potawatomi, the Sokaogon Chippewa (Mole Lake) and the Winnebago communities.

Material in Wisconsin, the source said, includes contract provisions between the federal government and Wisconsin industries for logging operations and training programs which proved unbeneficial to Indians.

FLOOD INSURANCE RATES RECEDE

If you think you can't afford flood insurance, chances are you're all wet.

Because now the federal government's National Flood Insurance Program is offering flood and mudslide insurance at sharply lowered rates.

EXAMPLE: A $10,000 policy on a single-family home that used to cost $40 per year now costs $25. Business property valued at $30,000 can be fully insured against flooding for just $120 a year. And rates for other residences, businesses and their contents have tumbled too.

Be sure you're protected.

Radue indicted in probe of Nowakowski

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Madison attorney Roger Radue has been directed to answer Dec. 4 a perjury summons issued Friday by the Milwaukee County grand jury which is investigating the activities of County Board Chairman Richard Nowakowski.

The ordering of Radue, a salesman for the Perma-Line Corp., to appear before Circuit Court Judge Max Raskin was the first indictment returned by the grand jury which was impaneled Nov. 14.

The indictment accuses Radue of perjuring himself when he "denied that he arranged to have" Nowakowski "receive remuneration for his services rendered or for activity that the said supervisor took in regard to Perma Line contracts with Milwaukee County, whereas in truth and in fact he made such arrangement."

The indictment also alleges that Radue knew the "check made out by Patrick Becker, president of Perma Line Co. of Wisconsin Inc., in the amount of $275, made payable to K and R Machine Products, Inc., or money therefrom was to be given to" Nowakowski "for his personal benefit and use."

The indictment, signed Wednesday by Circuit Court Judge Andrew Parnell, was filed with the Clerk of Circuit Court's Criminal Division. Parnell is supervising the grand jury probe which stems from newspaper articles about lobbying, vacation trips and relations with firms doing business with the county.

Vietnam peace talks postponed for week

Thieu to remain at the head of the Saigon government pending elections.

It was Hanoi which took the initiative last month of divulging the substance of the agreement, which the United States had hoped to keep secret until it was completed.

Sources said American officials were disturbed by the leak to the Washington Post of a Hanoi version of the crisis. Nonetheless, the U.S. delegation decided not to make an immediate reply pending Kissinger's new encounter with Tho today.

Meanwhile, North Vietnam's official newspaper, Nhan Dan, charged today: "All the difficulties and troubles in the path to ending the war are being created by the U.S. side."

The editorial claimed the United States had refused to abide by the provisions previously accepted in the draft cease-fire agreement made public in October.

"Are they trying a 180-degree turn in demanding reconsideration of the entire problem, trying to start all over again from the beginning?" Nhan Dan asked.

At the same time, the Communist Pathet Lao claimed the peace negotiations over the fate of Laos were making no progress because "the Vientiane side is not really interested in serious negotiations."

Phoumi Vongvichi, secretary general of the Pathet Lao, said in an interview carried by Hanoi's Vietnam News agency that the Vientiane government headed by Prince Souvanna Phouma deliberately is prolonging the talks by dwelling on procedural matters.

COMMUNICATION from the Lieutenant Governor of the State of Wisconsin relative to flood insurance, was referred to the City Plan Commission.

The following RESOLUTION submitted by Alderman Kamps was referred to the Board of Public Works and the City Plan Commission: "Resolved, that the City of Appleton should purchase the George Walter Brewing Company property. This property was offered for sale to the City of Appleton at the sale price of $125,000 to be used for the new City Police Station.

Whereas, the City of Appleton should not put off purchasing this property because it rates very highly on all Weight Factors put forth by the Police Station Site Criteria Advisory Committee. If this isn't done and the City loses the right to purchase said property, and later would have to purchase property within the immediate area, it would have to purchase residential property at a higher price. This would mean the City of Appleton would also lose the Tax Revenues from said properties which would be at a higher rate than the Geo. Walter Brewing Company property."

The following RESOLUTION submitted by Aldermen Errington, Thompson, West, Kamps, Day, Rehfeldt, Kalata, Kaufman, Tews, Strutz, Stutzman, Polzin, Schwaller, Mittlestadt, was referred to the Street and Sanitation Committee:

"Whereas, the Outagamie County Board has been studying the matter of Solid Waste Disposal, on a basis which contemplates the handling of the function on a County wide basis, and,

Whereas, there exists a serious question as to what method or methods should be used in the handling and disposal of said Solid Waste material, and,

Whereas, regardless of what method Outagamie County employs in defraying the considerable expense which would obviously be involved in such a project, the City of Appleton and the taxpayers of our City will probably be paying over 50% of said cost.

Now, Therefore, Be It Resolved, that Mayor Sutherland direct a standing Committee of the City of Appleton to make a study of the several methods available for such Solid Waste disposal and that following said study, said committee report back said findings and that the same be used as a basis for a recommendation from the City of Appleton to the Outagamie County Board.

Be It Further Resolved, in the alternative, that Mayor Sutherland appoint a special blue ribbon committee to include if possible, representatives from industry, labor, commerce and the public generally to make such study, and report back findings for the same purpose."

The following RESOLUTION submitted by Alderman Stohlman was referred to the Public Safety Committee. "Resolved, that a traffic study be conducted on South Douglas Street between Second Street and Spencer Street and the intersection of South Douglas Street with Melvin Street with a view to determining the need for a yellow caution light and pedestrian safety."

The following RESOLUTION submitted by Alderman West was referred to the Public Safety Committee: "Resolved, that a traffic hazard study be made on Edgemere Drive and Crestview Drive at the intersection of Briarcliff Drive."

The following RESOLUTION submitted by Alderman Kaufman was referred to the Public Safety Committee: "Resolved, that street lights be installed on Taylor Street between Bennett and Summit Streets. This is a new street cut in late August."

The following RESOLUTION submitted by Aldermen Maloney, Errington, Thompson, Tews, Strutz was referred to the Welfare and Ordinance Committee:

"Whereas, a State Task Force currently studying changes in our State Welfare Laws appear to be recommending drastic changes in the general relief program. These recommendations, if adopted, would result in the elimination of municipal control, limitation in investigation of cases, and from past and current performance of the State control and intervention, enhance the already overbearing bureaucracy, and spiraling welfare costs. Some of the recommendations currently under consideration are as follows:

1. Counties adopting the county-wide system of relief receive partial reimbursement from the State for administrative and direct relief costs. Municipalities who remain on the unit system of relief would be denied such reimbursement. This is descriminate against corporate municipalities desirous to remain on the unit system and is an obvious attempt to take away one more local control.

2. The county-wide system of relief would place restrictions on the use of voucher and direct vendor payments and would encourage the granting of cash grants to recipients.

3. Legal settlement determination pursuant to Wisconsin State Statutes 49.10 and collections from place of legal settlement pursuant to Wisconsin State Statutes 49.11 would be changed as to place on municipalities added burden and expense. The Task Force is considering reducing charge back to a one year limitation, eliminating vital provisions in the current statutes.

4 Filing of emergency medical notices by hospitals and institutions pursuant to Wisconsin State Statutes 49.02 (5) would be changed to allow such facilities to have no responsibility of filing such notices timely in accord to current statutes. This would result in complete breakdown of responsibility of institutions and place the entire burden on the relief agencies. This creates a blank check guarantee to such emergency medical notice filings to the detriment of the municipality and/or county.

5. County-wide system of relief system under rules promulgated by the State Department of Health and Social Services will simply enhance placing the general relief program under the same rules and policies now forced on the categorical aids which will allow reduction in control, permissive eligibility and the unrestrictive use of cash grants.

Therefore, Be It Resolved, the City of Appleton vigorously go on record opposing any recommendations forcing county-wide system of relief on any municipality desiring to retain the unit system of relief. That municipalities who now enjoy complete control of their respective relief units not be interferred with by the State. That the option to remain on the unit system of relief shall not be a bar to State reimbursement not withstanding the recommendation of the State Task Force.

Be It Further Resolved, that the unit system of relief now enjoyed by the City of Appleton has proven by record performed to the complete satisfaction of the citizens of Appleton and we the undersigned see no benefit for any change of the unit system in Appleton."

Opening lead — ♠ K

West opened the king of spades and South took the ace. Since South could now afford to draw exactly one round of trumps, he led out the ace of hearts.

Declarer next led the singleton club toward dummy, hoping to win a trick with the king. East captured the king of clubs with the ace and returned a trump.

This, incidentally, was why South hadn't drawn two rounds of trumps. It would permit an opponent to lead a third trump. As it was, only two rounds of trumps had been drawn and dummy still had two trumps.

Now South took the king and ace of diamonds and ruffed a diamond in the dummy. He ruffed a club to get back to his hand and led his last diamond. Fortunately, East had to follow suit, and South was able to ruff his last diamond safely in the dummy. Now South could give up two spade tricks and take the rest, making his contract.

If South had drawn three rounds of trumps, he would have been stuck with a losing diamond. It might have looked safe, but it would have cost him the contract.

Fox Valley employment earnings up

There are 1,900 more persons working in Fox Valley industrial plants than a year ago, and those who are working are earning about $17 a week more now.

According to statistics compiled by the Wisconsin Industry, Labor and Human Relations monthly publication, Wisconsin Work Force, the $174 a week earned by hourly workers in Calumet, Outagamie and Winnebago counties is seventh in the state, for the month of October.

Kenosha is leading the pack of 12 metropolitan statistical areas with workers there earning $215 a week.

The state average is $176, a few cents above that of a month ago. This covers a half million workers throughout the state.

Of those, 40,000 are employed locally which is 1,900 more than a year ago but about 100 less than in September as college students returned to classes and the construction trades began to cut down in anticipation of the winter season.

Statewide the work force has eased back by about 8,000 workers during the past month although total employment has increased by 18,300 from a year ago, depicting somewhat of an economic recovery.

On an hourly basis, Kenosha also leads with the workers there the only ones in the state earning more than $5 an hour. The Fox Valley is about $1 behind the state leader at $4.05 per hour which is 19 cents below the state average.

Except for Manitowoc where employes are putting in 43.1 hours a week, the Valley industrial workers are spending an average of 43 hours a week on the job.

Ranking ahead of the Fox Valley in terms of weekly pay are Kenosha, $215; Janesville, $198; Madison, $193; Milwaukee, $190; Fond du Lac, $187; and Racine, $184. Lowest in the state is LaCrosse at $136.56.

NM housing groups extend joint venture

BY DOUG KOPLIEN
Post-Crescent staff writer

NEENAH-MENASHA — The housing authorities of the two cities have decided to join forces in retaining a real estate agent to acquire options for about 40 sites to locate low-income family housing which has been approved by the federal Housing and Urban Development agency (HUD).

Early this month, HUD, in an unprecedented move, approved 120 public housing units to be split eventually between Neenah and Menasha.

Previously the authorities had decided to pass resolutions agreeing to cooperate in a public housing venture since individual applications had not received much attention.

Now, in addition to the cooperative venture, the authorities, of Friday, agreed to retain the same agent to find and get options of the sites for the low-income family units.

John Westgor, Neenah Housing Authority chairman, said today, that the two had agreed to retain the same agent at a meeting Friday afternoon. Earlier in the week, Gerald Wagner, Menasha authority chairman, had appointed a committee of two to work with Neenah in finding an agent to put together the sites.

According to HUD's approval the 120 units are split down the middle with each authority getting approval to build 30 units to house the elderly and 30 units for low income family.

Although the projects will be constructed individually in each city, the authorities are planning to work as a single entity with the cooperative effort extending to the same architectural consultant, turnkey developer and executive director to administer the projects after completion.

To circumvent a lack of legislative authority, the two groups have formed a Neenah-Menasha housing committee to carry out the joint project until the Wisconsin legislature passes a bill (to be introduced during the coming session) allowing housing authorities to combine.

With HUD approval in hand, the authorities have launched a crash program to get the developments underway. While the real estate agent is seeking the scattered sites for family housing, there's a search on to pick out appropriate sites for the elderly projects.

Sites, plus a total project description is scheduled to be completed and ready to be distributed to potential developers by mid-December. By early January, the proposals are supposed to be submitted to NIKA, the Madison consulting firm which has been retained by both authorities to handle the detail work.

A developer will be selected sometime in February and construction will tentatively start by spring.

HUD is expected to watch the Neenah-Menasha progress quite closely since this is the first time that separate authorities have been put together for administrative purposes.

Sometime within the next couple of weeks, the preliminary loans (about $12,000 for each city) are expected to come through to handle the initial costs of program development.

Woman dies in accident at Oshkosh

The deaths of five persons, including a 21-year-old Oshkosh woman Friday, brought the state's highway toll for the Thanksgiving weekend to 14 and raised the 1972 count to 1,038, six more than on this date one year ago.

Sherry C. Siebenhaar, 7125 Waupun Road, Oshkosh, died at Mercy Medical Center at 1:35 p.m. Friday from head injuries she received in a single-car accident on U.S. 41 at the U.S. 45 overpass about 8:20 a.m.

Winnebago County police said her car was southbound in the passing lane when it apparently skidded on the frosty pavement, went into the median, rolled over several times and landed on its top in the northbound lane.

William Frerichs, 17, and Randy Claflin, 18, both of Two Rivers, were killed when their car left Door County Trunk C about one-quarter mile west of Sturgeon Bay and crashed into some trees late Friday.

Theodore Hektner, 7, of rural Menomonie, and Elwood Dahl, 52, of rural Elk Mound, were killed in a two-car collision 10 miles west of Eau Claire at the intersection of Dunn County Trunks C and H.

Soo Line pays $236 on crossing blocks

NEENAH — Soo Line Railroad officials have signed stipulations and paid a total of $236 on four charges of blocking crossings in the city.

The company was fined $59 for blocking the Winneconne Avenue crossing for 13 minutes Oct. 1, the Main Street intersection for 8 minutes Sept. 29 and for 20 minutes Oct. 25, and for tying up Cecil Street for 16 minutes Oct. 31.

Neenah youth, charged on 8 counts, waived

NEENAH — Juvenile Court Judge James G. Sarres Friday waived to adult court a 17-year-old Neenah youth charged with eight separate counts of burglary, attempted burglary, theft and forgery amounting to $2,339 in damage and stolen goods.

The youth is charged with an attempted burglary at the Johnson Shoe Repair Shop on Aug. 1; the theft of four checks, a small amount of cash and a knife from the home of Mae Nelson, 719 E. Cecil St., on Sept. 28, and the theft of $1,234 in cash and checks from the Christensen Paint Store on S. Commercial St. on Oct. 9.

He also was charged with $110 damage to desks and doors at Martin Luther School Oct. 12; $75 damage to locks and doors at Lenz Plumbing, 1225 S. Commercial, on Oct. 18, and breaking into a cash register containing $30 at the Hobby Service Center, 890 S. Commercial St. on Aug. 8.

The youth also must answer charges of $147 damage and theft from the Wisconsin-Michigan Power Co., 109 W. Wisconsin Ave., on Oct. 10 and the theft of five packs of cigarettes and $3 worth of oil from Scotty's Service Station Oct. 18.

An Oct. 3 charge involved forging a check for $50. He was also charged with the theft of $268 from the Old Town Restaurant, 928 Green Bay Road.

The case of another 17-year-old Neenah youth charged in connection with six of the same incidents also was waived to adult court by Judge Sarres on Nov. 16.

One youth involved in the burglary at Christensen Paint was found delinquent and placed under the supervision of the County Department of Social Services and was ordered to pay restitution amounting to $225.

Delinquency judged for beer possession

NEENAH — A 17 year-old boy and a 16-year-old girl, both from Oshkosh, were found delinquent in Winnebago County Juvenile Court Friday on a charge of possessing fermented malt beverages at the Butterfly Bar on Oct. 6.

The two, also charged with contempt of court by breaking a 7 p.m. curfew set by Judge James G. Sarres on Oct. 26, were placed on one year supervision to the County Department of Social Services and placed in detention for three days.

Two Neenah youths, age 16, were found delinquent in connection with the theft of a football valued at $18 and 12 jerseys valued at $8 each from the athletic department at Shattuck High School Sept. 3. They were placed under the care of the Social Services authorities.

Two other youths involved in the same incident received the same judgment and were grounded for 60 days at an earlier court session.

A 16-year-old Neenah youth was found to be in need of supervision and was placed under the care of the Social Services officials for one year for running away from a foster home from Oct. 18 until Oct. 23. A 7 p.m. curfew was set for the youth for 30 days.

Nancy Barkla appointed as UW regent

MADISON, Wis. (AP) — Gov. Patrick J. Lucey Friday appointed Nancy Barkla of River Falls to succeed Eugene W. Murphy on the University of Wisconsin Board of Regents.

Murphy, who served as a regent of the Wisconsin State University system and the UW for 21 years, resigned to devote more time to his business activities. He is associated with Gateway Transportation Co. of La Crosse.

Mrs. Barkla, a practicing attorney, has served on the personal staff of Sen. Wiliam Proxmire, D-Wis. from 1957 to 1964 and as confidential assistant to Postmaster General John Gronouski in 1964.

Mrs. Barkla also served on the Governor's Commission on the Status of Women.

Lucey said he accepted Murphy's resignation "with a great deal of regret" and called Murphy "a devoted advocate of excellence in our higher education system."

Mrs. Barkla is a graduate of Marquette University and the University of Wisconsin Law School.

Drug education group formed in Winneconne

WINNECONNE — The Winneconne Community Council will hold an organizational meeting on drug education at 8 p.m. Tuesday, in the cafeteria of Winneconne Community School.

Winneconne is one of six area school districts in which a drug program is being piloted by the Cooperative Educational Service Agency, No. 8. The program is federally funded under title 3 of the elementary and secondary education act.

The CESA program views drug abuse as a symptom of serious emotional problems. The program is aimed at developing effective, preventative, educational programs and building sound mental health practices on the part of students and teachers.

It also proposes that each community develop an adult drug council to aid in the program as well as set up ways and means to develop a total community effort.

Federal, state funding of welfare costs proposed

OSHKOSH, Wis. (AP) — Funding public welfare costs entirely with state and federal money was recommended Friday by the Citizen's Study Committee on Metropolitan Problems.

The 21-member panel, which began a review of the first draft of its final report to Gov. Patrick Lucey, described the present method of financing welfare as unfair.

Milwaukee County taxpayers paid more than $34 per capita in property taxes last year as their share of welfare costs, the committee pointed out, while Waukesha County taxpayers paid $9.50 and Ozaukee County taxpayers $6.66.

Full state responsibility for administering the entire welfare system was called for as a long range solution by the panel, while an immediate change in state law was urged to take administration of the general assistance program away from town, village and city governments and give it to counties.

Also endorsed was establishment of neighborhood service centers to decentralize the welfare system.

The task force, in another area, called for a change in state law which would allow creation of county housing authorities with power to provide housing without any veto by municipalities. And it urged repeal of a state constitutional barrier against state purchase and sale of land for housing construction.

Also recommended by the panel were more state funds for air and water pollution control, particularly to encourage construction of regional control facilities.

Increased sales reflect savings bond popularity

Sales of Series E and H savings bonds continue to grow despite stiff competition from other types of savings programs. Series E sales for September hit a 27-year national high of $452 million while Series H reached $20 million, a 31 per cent gain over a year ago.

In Outagamie, E and H sales grew to $107,518 for September and reached $1,404,291 for the first nine months of this year, according to Harold Adams, county bond sales chairman.

Other chairmen reported September and nine-month sales totals of $189,082 and $1,713,657, respectively, in Winnebago; $137,624 and $2,086,759 in Brown, and $24,759 and $261,350 in Calumet.

Most bond sales in the region come through payroll deduction or direct purchase at financial institutions.

Total bond sales nationally set a 20-year record for the month of September and exceeded redemptions, at cost price, for the 24th consecutive month.

Exchange of Series E for new Series H bonds were $26 million for September, up 17 per cent. September redemptions at cost came to $358 million.

Holdings of E and H bonds reached $56.7 billion, about $241 million over the last month. With the addition of Freedom Shares — withdrawn from sale on July 1, 1970 — holdings reached $57.2 billion, another record high.

Adams said the success of bond sales could be traced in part to the security the bond provides. "Any instrument that is backed by the full faith and credit of the United States is inherently safe financially," he said.

Transform paper cup into basket of fruit

BY CAPPY DICK

A big paper cup can be turned into a miniature basket of grapefruit with the help of a few yellow marbles.

Give the cup the appearance of a tall basket by using your fine-tipped fiber pen to draw lines on the cup as in figure 1.

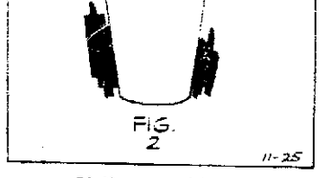

Cut a disk of cardboard that will fit snugly into the top of the cup when you wedge it in.

Put glue on the disk and attach enough five-eighth inch yellow marbles to cover the surface. Let the glue dry, then press the disk into the cup. This completes the project. Use the basket of grapefruit as a desk or table ornament.

Red marbles would resemble apples. Blue marbles could be a display of plums. Orange-colored marbles would be suitable for a basket of oranges.

Several baskets standing together as in a grocery store would be an appropriate way for the project to be used in connection with a doll's house.

Monday: Lots more good fun for every boy and girl!

Dr. G. C. Thosteson

Nursing baby won't make breast droop

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Does breast feeding cause the bust to sag in later life? A friend and I were discussing it when I told her I was considering breast feeding.

Her mouth fell open and she said, "Oh, you wouldn't. Why, by the time you are 35 or 40 you'll look like an old cow, with a big bust that hangs down to your waist."

I'm not big busted now and have read in a magazine that breast feeding does not harm the bust. The article also gave some reasons why breast feeding is so good. Among others it gives the baby antibodies to protect it from diseases.

I have seen a lot of women who did not breast feed their children and their breasts hang or sag terribly. What do you think? — Mrs. A.L.

I throughly agree with you and with the article you read. There are all sorts of good reasons for breast feeding, and they include the emotional as well as physical health of baby, and to some degree mother.

Breast feeding does not permanently alter breast size so as to cause sag later. True, the breasts enlarge temporarily during pregnancy but return to former size afterward — other things being equal.

The breasts will droop if there is weight loss or a loss of supporting tissues as a woman grows older. Some experience this; others don't. Breast feeding isn't the factor that governs it.

There are, indeed, plenty of women who have breastfed their babies and are not droopy, and there are others, as you have seen, who never did any breast feeding but have become droopy anyway.

---

Dear Dr. Thosteson: My son, 16, sleeps on a soft mattress and springs. He complains of backache.

I can't convince him that a hard mattress would be much better for his back. Now he wants a water bed.

He thinks that would be best. He is not a sound sleeper. What do you think of the water bed from a health standpoint? — G.M.B.

I have never slept in one and have little information with which to form a judgement, except that an orthopedist friend of mine did sleep on one and found it uncomfortable.

I have no doubt others find them comfortable or they wouldn't be using them.

The simplest answer for your son, I would think, would be to try a plywood bed board between his mattress and springs and see if that has any effect. Unsturdy mattresses can cause back pains.

Persistent backache is not to be considered lightly, and so, if it persists, it would be wise to have an Xray of his back and look for other causes than a weak mattress.

As far as the water bed goes, if he insists and you can afford one and if your floors will support the weight, then let him use one and find out.

---

Dear Dr. Thosteson: If a person takes too much sugar, does drinking water remove the danger to your health by dissolving the sugar? Example: If I eat a candy bar, then drink a glass of water, is it as though I didn't have the candy bar? (I know the calories still count.) — L.M.

Dissolved or not, the sugar's still there. In fact, whatever you eat, the stomach churns it into a liquified state anyway.

You are entirely right, of course, that the calories still count — which is why people on reducing diets should avoid sugar in their coffee. That's a mistake some dieters make, thinking that liquids won't add as much weight as solid foods. Sometimes the liquids add even more.

Dylan Thomas spotlighted

MENASHA — For years, audiences have heralded the performance of Emlyn Williams as Dylan Thomas, critics have raved of its theatrical qualities, and now, the Fox Valley community has an opportunity to see for itself.

On Thursday, at 8:15 p.m. the University of Wisconsin Center-Fox Valley Lecture and Fine Arts Committee presents Williams as "Dylan Thomas Growing Up". A legend in theater, the entertainment is devised from the stories of Dylan Thomas, Welsh-born writer who died in New York in 1953, at the young age of 39, and is recognized as one of the greatest poets of the century.

For those who love Thomas, the Williams performance is a wonderful way to experience his literature. For those who are unfamiliar with Thomas, Williams introduces the audience to both the man and his works. It has been acclaimed as: "keen sense of theater", "gorgeous nonsense", "uproariously funny", "a revelation", and "thoroughly delightful."

Thomas stories

Most of the program is devised from Dylan Thomas stories, including: "Portrait of the Artist as a Young Dog"; "Quite Early One Morning"; and "Prospect of the Sea". Some of the program is devised by Williams based on his knowledge of the life of the poet.

Williams, an established actor-playwright, also Welsh-born, was highly successful in a 1951 solo performance, "As Charles Dickens", in which he presented scenes from Dicken's novels. The performance took him to all corners of the world.

It was when he took part, in 1954, in the first stage performance of "Under Milk Wood" that he realized how Dylan Thomas had been veering towards the theatre and how immeasurable further the theatre might have been enriched by his talents; and it became the actor's conviction that he should weave together, from the writer's other work, a theatrical entertainment — a second 'one-man show.'

Emlyn Williams as Dylan Thomas Growing Up was first presented at the Bath Festival, proceeding thence to highly successful seasons at the Globe Theatre, London and to further world tours.

Williams has starred in stage, screen and television performances throughout the world, many of which he himself has written. Among these productions are: "A Murder Has Been Arranged"; "Night Must Fall", filmed first with Robert Montgomery and later with Albert Finney; "The Corn is Green" starring Sybil Thorndike in London, Ethel Barrymore throughout America, and filmed with Bette Davis; "The Morning Star"; "The Druid's Rest"; "Spring 1600"; and "Trespass."

Other credits

He played in "The Winslow Boy", as Rattigan; "Montserrat", as Hellman. His films include "The Citadel"; "The Stars Look Down"; "Major Barbara"; "Hatter's Castle"; "The Last Days of Dolwyn", which he also directed, having written it for Edith Evans and Richard Burton; "Ivanhoe", and "I, Claudius", in which he played Caligula with Charles Laughton.

His other activities as writer and as actor on stage, in films and on TV have included: his own play "Someone Waiting"; "The Deep Blue Sea" (film, with Vivien Leigh); a season at Stratford Upon Avon (as Shylock, Iago, Angelo); "Shadow of Heroes" (with Peggy Ashcroft); "The Wreck of the Mary Deare" (film, with Gary Cooper); "Daughter of Silence" (New York); "Three" (plays by Pinter, Mortimer and Simpson). They include also his early autobiography "George"; "The L Shaped Room" (film, with Leslie Caron); Lloyd George in "The Great War" (TV); Pope Pius XII in "The Deputy" (New York; an adaptation of "A Month in the Country" (in which he appeared with Ingrid Bergman and Michael Redgrave); an adaptation of "The Master Builder" presented by the National Theatre with Michael Redgrave and then Laurence Olivier; and a second book, "Beyond Belief", a 'Chronirle of Murder and its Detection.'

Recent appearances

His recent appearances have been (on the screen) in "The Walking-Stick" with Samantha Eggar and David Hemmings and as Mr. Dick in the all-star production of "David Copperfield"; (on TV) as commentator on the Investiture of the Prince of Wales; and (on stage) at the Apollo Theatre London, in "Forty Years On."

The Nov. 30 presentation will be held in the campus Fine Arts Theater, Midway Road.

A liberated cliche

8-8:30 — Channels 2-7 — Mary's parents are back in The Mary Tyler Moore Show. Then again, maybe it won't.

---

8-9 — Channels 11-9 — Streets of San Francisco has a good story and a very sympathetic character, a local "newsboy," the unofficial Mayor of San Francisco, played by David Wayne. The day is a big one for him: he is going to withdraw a large sum of money from the bank so he and his wife can take a grand vacation. Meanwhile, we have seen the robbery and murder of a community leader so we're puzzled when the same gang robs Wayne, after he has taken his savings in cash to "get the feel" of it.

---

8:30-9 — Channels 2-7 — Bob and Emily (Newhart and Suzanne Pleshette) return from a Mexican vacation on The Bob Newhart Show to find friend Jerry (Peter Bonerz) is engaged to the dental hygienist who rents a chair from him. She turns out to be gorgeous (Elaine Giftos), but she is also an iron butterfly, completely dominating Jerry.

---

9-10 — Channels 11-9 — The Sixth Sense has an ESP mystery: which of four people is trying to kill the heroine (Sallie Shockley), beset by visions of a wax image of herself melting in flames. The girl, a sensitive and former pupil of Dr. Rhodes (Gary Collins), has gone back home where there is love and hate from her grandmother, two young men "almost like brothers," and a neighbor girl whose dead sister was our heroine's best friend.

---

9-10:30 — Channels 2-7 — Regional winners from all over the United States compete for the title during the 12th annual Miss Teen-Age America Pageant. # Legislator declares war against graffiti

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — State Sen. William T. Conklin wants to fight graffiti on public buildings, subway cars and buses by banning the sale of indelible-ink marking pens and spray paint to persons under 18 years of age.

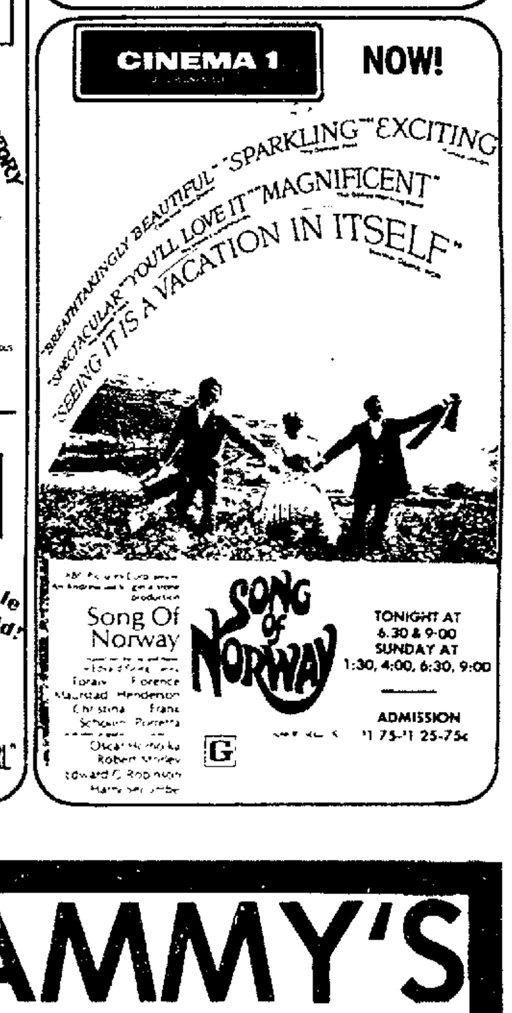

The Brooklyn Republican said Thursday that he had prefiled for the 1973 legislature a bill to prohibit such sales and thereby "get the graffiti tools out of the hands of the young vandals."
